SLAUGHTER IN THE MINES

35 Men Killed in Kentucky

GOES ON WITHOUT CHECK

Right on Heels of the Colorado Horror Comes the Bourbon State Tragedy.

19 CORPSES RESCUED; SIXTEEN IN THE MINE

There Were Hundred Men in Death Trap, but 65 Escaped. Forty Corpses Taken From Colorado Mine---Pitiful Scenes When Illinois Charnel House Is Opened.

Drakesboro, Ky., February 1.—Nineteen corpses removed from the Browder mine, ten bodies in sight in the workings and six others known to be dead, was the count at midnight in the death roll resulting from the explosion of gases in the mine today.

Nearly a score of men were mangled by the explosion and many of these will probably die.

The bodies recovered were horribly mutilated and some of them past identification. Because of the accumulation of gases in the entry where the explosion occurred, 170 feet beneath the ground and 700 feet back from the mine shaft, it was impossible to begin active rescue work until six hours after the disaster occurred.

Hundred Men in Mine.

The damage to the mine, investigating parties have discovered, was not material and is confined to the east entry. There were 100 men in the mine at the time of the explosion, more than half of them in the west entry. All of them hastened to the cages and were quickly drawn to the top. Later all in the east entry except the unfortunate twenty-seven, fought their way to the shaft and were brought out to safety.

As soon as it was safe to begin with the rescue work, miners were sent down in relays under direction of J. Abercrombie, mine foreman, and G. Reynolds, the mine superintendent.

In the immediate vicinity of the explosion ten men had been working. The concussion tossed the bodies distances of many feet. The remaining missing men were in entries but a few feet distant from the workings where there was the greatest known loss of life, and the searching parties have been unable to locate these entries. It is believed all the men entombed there are dead.

Pitiful Scene at Mine.

The pit mouth presents a pitiful scene tonight, with the shrieking wives and children of the dead and missing miners crowding about waiting reports from the rescuers.

It is believed that the explosion was caused by a track repairer going into an abandoned room with an uncovered lamp, as the room is shattered almost to atoms and the body of the repairer is nowhere to be seen. An undertaker is on his way from Greenville with a number of caskets and Judge J. J. Rice has been summoned from the same place to hold the inquest.

The Browder mine, together with three others in this vicinity, was recently purchased by a syndicate of Tennessee and West Virginia capitalists. C. D. M. Freer and T. B. Caldwell, of Memphis, Tenn., are now holding the properties as trustees pending the formation of a company to take over the four properties.

GLAVIS WORRIES PRESIDENT TAFT

No Weak Spots in Story of Witness.

Taft and Cabinet Discuss the Advisability of Having an Attorney Appear Before the Committee and Cross-Examine Glavis.

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, February 1.—(Special.) President Taft and his cabinet today discussed quite earnestly, it is understood, the advisability of having some attorney appear at the Ballinger-Pinchot investigation and cross-examine Louis R. Glavis in the interest of Secretary of the Interior Ballinger.

Glavis, in his slow, deliberate, naive way, has given some startling testimony, told more than most of those interested thought he knew, and has been unruffled and unconcerned in the face of gruelling cross-examination by members of the committee.

No Weak Spots Found.

Despite the aggressive efforts of Senators Root, Nelson, Sutherland and others, no weak spots have been found in his testimony. He has fortified himself with a vast array of letters, telegrams and other documentary evidence, and has retained in his memory a wonderful lot of information extremely embarrassing to a number of public officials in congress and in the interior department.

As was predicted in these dispatches several weeks ago, Glavis has admirably sustained himself. The administration feels called upon to refute his testimony, if it can be done, and protect Secretary Ballinger.

When the investigating committee meets again Friday morning, Glavis will resume the stand. He will remain in the city until certain papers and books formerly in the hands of the interior department in Seattle and Portland are received. While here he is making his home with Representative Livingston, of Georgia, his former guardian.

Vacancy Not Filled.

The vacant place on the Ballinger-Pinchot investigating committee, caused by the resignation of Senator Paynter from illness, is still going begging. The place has been offered to a score of democratic senators, and declined.

Senator Money, as democratic leader, is seeking to provide the additional democratic member. It was understood that Senator Chamberlin, of Oregon, would accept the place, but he has asked to be excused. If the vacancy is not filled by Friday, when the committee resumes its investigation, the place will remain unfilled, and the senate democrats will have but one representative on the committee—Senator Fletcher, of Florida. It is common gossip that a number of the republican members now lashed to the mast of this investigation would infinitely prefer to be anywhere else in the world than just where they are.

Funeral of Bishop Foss.

Philadelphia, February 1.—Several bishops, hundreds of clergymen and laymen, some from distant parts of the country, attended the funeral services in Arch Street church here today of Bishop Cyrus D. Foss, of the Methodist Episcopal church, who died on Saturday last from paralysis. The body of Bishop Foss will lie in state in the chancel of the church until tomorrow, when it will be taken to Pauling, N. Y., for interment.

RESIDENCE PARK FOR WEST END

W. J. Davis Pays $100,000 for Splendid Tract.

Old "Westwood Park" in the Deal---Will Be Nucleus of New Residence to Be Laid Out on Lines Followed in Ansley Park Development.

William J. Davis, the prominent capitalist and real estate developer, on yesterday closed a deal, through W. S. Ansley, the well-known real estate agent, whereby he purchased the 100-acre tract of improved property lying at the intersection of Gordon street and Cascade avenue, for which he paid over $100,000.

This property is now being surveyed and mapped out by S. Z. Ruff, the noted civil engineer and landscape expert who jumped into instant fame and favor through his work in Ansley Park.

He has been instructed by Mr. Davis to spare no expense in laying out the plans which will beautify this plot in every particular and make for the west side a residential park which will share honors with the residential park of the north side.

This new section will be known as "West End Park," and has already been given this name by Dr. Davis.

It is recalled, by some, that 20 or more years ago a party of capitalists from Ontario, Canada, came to Atlanta, selected this site and bought it up, spending about $60,000 in grading, beautifying and in every way enhancing the value of the property.

It was called "Westwood Park" and by many is still remembered as such.

It is upon this nucleus Mr. Davis is preparing to work.

Already this park has a splendid frontage on Gordon street, which is paved in the city and macadamized to the county line, and also on Cascade avenue, which is another favorite automobile driveway.

This park already is penetrated by two car lines, the Whitehall to West End line, and also the Walker to West View street car line. The property is beautifully shaded, well graded, and is an ideal spot for building.

In a short while, now, the work of laying tile sidewalks, paved streets and other necessary city conveniences will be laid. The park property is partly within the Seventh ward and partly without the city. The development of this residential park promises to be one of the biggest things ever attempted upon the south side.

Mr. Davis, who has acquired this property, is one of Atlanta's best known and most prominent citizens. His work of developing the various sections of Atlanta is proverbial and he is already rated as one of the foremost builders in the city.

It is no uncommon occurrence for him to be building from ten to fifteen houses at one time.

In this newest development he has a plan which, when carried to successful fruition, will give to West End, already blessed in so many ways, one of the most beautiful residential parks in the south.

Mr. Davis declines to make public the exact amount paid for this property, but it is stated that the 100 acres, which has a western property line of 3,000 feet, cost over $100,000.

THESE MEN'S REDUCTIONS SALES GIVE THE WIVES A CHANCE TO GET EVEN

Were you in it? The free-for-all gentlemen's bargain day handicap. The course was at any downtown haberdashery. The prizes were shirts, suits, sox, ties, paj—errer, underwear, rain coats, rain sticks, fancy vests, hats, etc. This event has come to be as classic as the Futurity, the only difference being there are two annually—February 1 and August 1.

No sooner had The Constitution been delivered in the morning than the male members of the family, oblivious to the fact that his wife and daughters wished to see the advertisements, society and other pages, grabbed up the paper and literally devoured it, going into town.

Did they stop at the office first? Not on your reduced prices. They kept on until they got to their perfectly good little toggery shop, and then joined the rush for the door.

Once inside, men who wore a size 16 shirt grabbed the colors that appealed to his eye, rushed madly over to some clerk to have them wrapped and charged, only to find that he had selected size 14½. Others had similar misfits and misfortunes.

In some stores the crush was so great the doors had to be closed. But there was almost a complete sell-out before noon. It was the biggest bargain day sale on record.

So much for the downtown endeavors.

The penalty: "George, how many times have I told you that right now you have more shirts, sox and ties than you can ever wear? It is reckless extravagance to spend all your money on yourself when you know I haven't bought my spring putfit! Boohoo! You don't love me any more," etc.

FEDERAL GAUGER UNDER ARREST; STILL RAIDED

Order for Arrest and for Raid Given by Judge A. W. Fite.

ALLEGE THE DISTILLERY IS VIOLATING THE LAW

Gauger Thompson, Who Succeeded Gauger Charles Stegall, Is Brought Back to Trenton by Sheriff and Put in the Dade County Jail to Await Trial.

Trenton, Ga., February 1.—(Special.) Judge A. W. Fite, by an order dated January 31, 1910, directed R. W. Thurman, sheriff of Dade county, to go to Rising Fawn, Dade county, and close up George W. Cureton's place of business and to arrest United States Gauger Thompson, who was at Cureton's place of business, and to put him in jail, charging in the order that it was an illicit distillery and was running in violation of law.

Sheriff Thurman left Trenton this morning on an early train for Rising Fawn and proceeded at once to the said place of business and arrested Gauger Thompson, closed up the place of business and locked it up and brought Guager Thompson to Trenton and placed him in the common jail of Dade county.

Judge A. W. Fite Talks.

Cartersville, Ga., February 1.—(Special.)—Before taking the afternoon train for Dade county, where the officers of the state today seized the alleged illicit distillery of George W. Cureton, Judge A. W. Fite said:

"I have been informed that the sheriff had to arrest the federal officer in charge of the still and I phoned the officer to give the storekeeper a preliminary trial, but since then I have wired the sheriff to hold the gauger until I get there.

"I have all the evidence I want to convict of criminal offenses all who were connected with the still."

The extraordinary procedure upon which Judge Fite caused the seizure of the distillery recites the alleged fact of Cureton's arrest in September, 1909, upon charge of distilling liquors in violation of the prohibition law, and that said Cureton continues to operate a distillery, and orders all sheriffs and officers to proceed to said distillery and, if necessary, force an entrance therein and levy upon and seize upon same, "and you are further commanded to arrest any and all persons that may interfere or obstruct you or others of you in the execution of this order."

Judge Fite, accompanied by Solicitor T. C. Milner, left on the 6:30 train tonight for Tifton. Neither Judge Fite nor Colonel Milner would tell of whatever plans they may adopt when arriving upon the scene of action.

According to advices received in Atlanta yesterday, when Sheriff Thurman visited the distillery he was refused admission to the place by Gauger Thompson, who finally put the sheriff under arrest for trespass upon federal property.

Then when the storekeeper was in the act of leaving the place, the sheriff put him under arrest upon the charge of resisting an officer in the discharge of his duty.

CORONER WENT TO HOLD INQUEST AND FOUND THE WOMAN ALIVE

Dawson, Ga., February 1.—When Coroner Buchanan, with his jury and Sheriff Hill, went to the home of Inez Mitchell, a young white woman, who it was thought, was shot to death yesterday, they found her alive today. She is said to have a chance for recovery. Doctors are trying to bring her to consciousness to hear her story of how she received her wound.

ELECTRA OUTDOES SALOME IN ITS MORBID IMAGERY

New York, February 1.—Europe's latest musical sensation, "Electra," an opera by Richard Strauss, had its first American production at the Manhattan Opera house tonight.

Seats sold at fancy prices and orchestra chair-holders paid 10 cents a minute for the one hundred minutes of Strauss' latest work, which critics says outdoes Salome in its morbid imagery.

The story of "Electra" tells how the queen, Clytemnestra, has murdered her husband, King Agamemnon, with the help of her lover, Aegisthus. Her daughter, Electra, insane with the idea of avenging her father, persuades her brother, Orestes, to slay their mother and her lover.

All the murderous mania, the ravings of the obsessed Electra, finds its greatest expression in the orchestra, some of the effects being produced by the development of new musical instruments.

Strauss sought to produce the sounds of creaky hinges, squealing and grunting of animals and other unusual sounds without number, which the action of the opera demands. Madame Mazarin sang "Electra," while the Clytemnestra was Madame Gerville-Reache; Aegisthus was M. Duffault. One hundred and twelve pieces compose the orchestra.

HE DIED AT AGE OF 105 YEARS AND ONLY SPENT $5 FOR DRUGS

Lawrenceburg, Ind., February 1.—James Courter, who would have been 105 years old next April, died today from pneumonia. Courter's married life extended over a period of seventy-four years, which ended in the death of his wife in 1896. He asserted that in all the years of his life he had spent only $5 for medicine. He was a habitual user of tobacco. Shortly before his one hundred and fourth birthday he indulged in the school boy sport of "hop, skip and jump" with much vim and a hearty laugh as its sequel. Courter had been a democrat ever since he became a voter.

JUST A FIGHT OF THE WOMEN

So Says Naval Officer of Auld-Cowles Row.

Cowles, Although Married, Took Miss Hesler's Photo and Wanted to Call on Her---This Brought on Feeling Which Resulted in Attack on Cowles

Boston, Mass., February 1.—"It's a woman's fight," said a naval officer as he left the court-martial proceedings today of Paymaster George P. Auld, after hearing the wife of the man, whom the young Burlington officer is said to have assaulted, testify that she made a special trip to Washington to get Secretary of the Navy Meyer and Senator Lodge to press the charges against Auld.

From the testimony today, it appeared that the quarrel, which the men took up, originated over a photograph of Miss Dorothy Hesler, of Evanston, Ill., which Dr. E. H. Cowles, of Boston, is said to have carried off from the room of Dr. A. S. Robnett, who is coupled with Mr. Auld in the charges, and who will be tried later.

Dr. Cowles, whose claims as a physician were repudiated by the state authorities, said today that he carried the picture off by mistake, and that when about to return it, Dr. Robnett called him by telephone and ordered him in emphatic language to return the picture at once, or take the consequences. Dr. Cowles accepted the latter alternative, and said that Mr. Auld carried out the orders of Dr. Robnett, which resulted in the alleged assault on December 11, at the now famous "hop."

Miss Hesler corroborated the story of the taking of the picture, and said that Dr. Cowles asked her to meet him and wanted to send her flowers. She disliked him, and so did her friend, Miss Virginia Swift, a daughter of the former commandant, Rear Admiral Swift.

Then Mrs. Cowles went on the stand. She testified that she was surprised to learn, nearly a month after the incident, that the matter had been closed.

She did not pause in Boston to ask why, but went straight to the fountain head in Washington, where she laid the Cowles side of the case before Secretary Meyer. Mr. Meyer asked her, she said, not to press the charges too hard, as Rear Admiral Swift was a friend of his.

ROUSING MEETING FOR CITY BONDS

Second and Third Ward Voters Hold Joint Rally.

Meeting Was Held at the Court House and Fine Speeches Are Made on the Need for the Issue of the Bonds---Press Huddleston Presided.

A rousing meeting was held last evening at the courthouse by voters of the second and third wards. The greatest of enthusiasm was manifested, and those present were more than ever determined to see that the bonds were carried and that Atlanta's sewers, water, schools, hospital and crematory were taken care of.

The meeting was called to order by Press Huddleston, who outlined the bond issue, and stated how the $3,000,000 of bonds would be used. He explained in detail about the septic tanks to take care of the city sewage, about the building of a new water main and more water pipe, the erection of new school buildings, the construction of an additional crematory and an adjunct to the Grady hospital. He showed that the first, third, fourth and fifth wards would get the most of the money from the bond issue. He said the bond issue means the circulation of $3,000,000 in pay rolls for the next two or three years.

The Mayor Speaks.

The next speaker was Mayor Maddox. He said that the necessity of bonds was purely a business proposition that should appeal to every voter in Atlanta. The city was now 26 square miles, instead of 12½ square miles, and the increased territory must be taken care of. Atlanta cannot, with its present income, make a single permanent improvement. Bonds must be issued if the city is to hold its prestige.

VICE PRESIDENT SHERMAN BUTTS INTO WEST VIRGINIA POLITICS

Washington, February 1.—Vice President Sherman today injected his influence into the senatorial contest in West Virginia, where Senator Scott's reelection is being opposed by Representative Hubbard. The proceeding is so unusual that it will probably attract considerable attention in political circles. The vice president issued a statement in interview form in which he says:

"West Virginia would, indeed, be short-sighted if she failed to avail itself of the opportunity to retain the services of a business man who, at all times, has looked after the interests of the state in every way possible to advance the great development that is now taking place. Such a senator is Mr. Scott, and, in my opinion, it would be a misfortune not to continue in the senate such an earnest republican and so influential a legislator."

The vice president then paid a warm tribute to Mr. Scott's legislative career, and said the report that there is a campaign in progress to prevent the senator's return seems almost incredible to him.

Representative Hubbard appeared surprised tonight to learn that the vice president had come out in favor of Senator Scott's reelection and gave out the following statement:

"My candidacy for the United States senate is submitted to the people of West Virginia and to no one else, certainly not to any of the allies who fought Roosevelt and Taft, nor to any two of them who may remain allied in their devotion to business in the senate or elsewhere."

STAND BY TAFT, BUT NOT CANNON

Washington, February 1.—Republican members of the New York delegation in the house at a caucus today voted to support President Taft's policies, but refused to commit themselves on the question of the speakership and the rules. Party leaders sought to have the caucus go on record as indorsing the present rules, but the movement failed.

Had the New York delegation sustained the rules it is reported an effort would be made to have the same action taken all along the line in the various state delegations. Pennsylvania members are talking about a caucus of the delegation, but nothing definite has been done in that direction.

The republican "insurgents" in the house will support the administration program on the subjects of railroad legislation, conservation, postal savings banks and anti-injunction. Unanimous decision to do so was reached at a meeting held last night. Representative Gardner, of Massachusetts, and Representative Hayes, of California, were authorized to so inform the president.

TEN LIVES LOST WITH SCHOONER

Norfolk, Va., February 1.—With a northwest wind blowing a 52-mile-an-hour gale and heavy weather prevailing, the three-masted schooner Frances, Captain Coombs, from New York to Jacksonville, Fla., was washed ashore on the treacherous Hatteras coast early this morning, and was pounded to pieces by the raging sea before lifesavers from the Cape Hatteras and Big Kinnakest life-saving stations could reach the ill-fated vessel's crew of ten men, who are supposed to have been lost in the furious seas. Although none of the bodies have come ashore as yet, the life-savers report that there was no possible means of escape for those aboard.

The wreck was discovered from the Big Kinnakest station a short time after daybreak today.

Before life-savers, who put out immediately after discovering the stranded vessel, could reach her, they saw her break to pieces, and seeing no signs of life, abandoned all effort at rescue.

The Frances, which was formerly the barkentine Frances, of Baltimore, was a vessel of 643 tons net register, was owned by Edwin B. Pendleton, of New York. She was built in Belfast, Me., in 1887, and was employed in the lumber carrying trade between Florida and northern ports.

MYSTERIOUS SHOOTING ON FORREST AVENUE

Three pistol shots fired in quick succession at 7:30 o'clock last night in front of 138 Forrest avenue, near the corner of Piedmont avenue, gave the people in that section considerable alarm.

Only about two weeks ago three shots were fired at the same spot, one of the bullets on that occasion crashing a window pane, but injuring no one.

Mrs. F. Cutsler, who had her handbag snatched from her while walking on Forrest avenue Saturday night, lives at 138 Forrest avenue, where the mysterious shootings have occurred.

Police Call Officers Hamby and Fain investigated the shooting. It is not known who used the revolver.

STREET CAR CO. PAYS BIG INCREASE IN TAX

The Increase for the Year 1909 Is Nearly $6,000 Over 1908.

The Georgia Railway and Electric Company yesterday paid to the city $59,099.08 as its taxes for 1909 on its gross receipts. This is $5,538.25 more than was paid the year before. The amount of the tax for 1908 was $53,650.83. In making its returns the company deducted from its gross receipts tax the franchise tax.

This makes the street car company the largest taxpayer to the city.

The $5,538.25 comes as an extra revenue not counted in the estimated receipts for the city for the year and the amount is gladly accepted by the finance committee of council.

BUILDERS' EXCHANGE HAS LUNCHEON TONIGHT

The Atlanta Builders' Exchange will hold its first quarterly meeting for 1910, in exchange quarters, 207-10 Prudential building, this evening at 6 o'clock. After a luncheon has been served, Hon. R. F. Maddox, Hon. Walter McElreath, and Hon. Hoke Smith will give addresses on the proposed bond issue.

"LET BISHOP C. S. SMITH WEAR PLACARD ON BACK"

—Bishop J. S. Flipper

There was no actual warfare in the ranks of the African Methodist Episcopal church yesterday, as an aftermath of the card of Bishop C. S. Smith, the gist of which was printed in The Constitution.

Bishops Turner and Flipper were not inclined to take the bishop seriously. The latter said he regarded the statement of the chancellor more as the "vaporings of an imbecile than a sane person." Declaring he was perfectly willing to admit that Smith was bishop of the church in Georgia, he suggested that the bishop take still further steps to keep the public informed of this fact.

His advice is that he "wear a placard on his back, and have printed in large letters, 'I am the bishop of the African Methodist Episcopal church in Georgia,' that the people may read thereon and be enlightened as to who he is."

Bishop Turner said that he would make no reply until the meetings of the bishops of the church in Vicksburg, Miss.

Bishop Flipper, in his statement, asserted that as a bishop, he is a general superintendent of the African Methodist Episcopal church, and as a trustee of Morris Brown he was not compelled to wait until the session of the trustee board to express an opinion touching the interests of the college.

IN "RUTHERFORD'S WIFE" PLAYERS' CLUB TO STAR

Tonight the Players' Club of Atlanta presents "Rutherford's Wife" at the Grand Opera House, and the advance sale of seats has been brisk enough to warrant the statement that one of the most brilliant audiences of the season will assemble to witness the play by the popular amateurs.

It is officially announced that the curtain will rise promptly at 8:15 o'clock and everyone is requested to be in the house and seated by that time. The play will most likely be finished before 11 o'clock, as the action is snappy and the scenes not long drawn out.

The cast includes some of the cleverest amateur actors and actresses in the south, and the play itself is said to be much more entertaining than any the club has ever produced. It is a four-act comedy-drama by David Belasco and Henry C. De Mille.

The cast is composed of the following well-known Atlanta people: Tom Akers, Milton Saul, Captain Henry M. Bankhead, Captain H. C. Barnes, Walter Stearns, Thornton Marye, Westervelt Terhune, Mrs. W. C. Jarnigan, Mrs. W. P. Nicolson, Mrs. Edward Dougherty, Mrs. Barbour Thompson, Mrs. Phinizy Calhoun and Miss Cora Wynne.

HUNGER PANGS OVERCOME SPIRIT OF ADVENTURERS

Seized by the wanderlust, incited by stories of adventure, Johnny Skiddons, Howard Durand and Quince Banks, three bold adventurers, averaging about 9 years old, left their homes in East Point yesterday morning for parts unknown. Banks, it seems, was the leading spirit and held out to the other two the promise of three mules and $1,000 as an inducement.

Noon found the trio no further advanced upon their perigrinations than the College Park woods. A mutiny had broken out. Since the mules were not forthcoming, to say nothing of the $1,000, Skiddons and Durand commenced to doubt the veracity of their leader and the cruel world seemed less inviting than their happy homes. In the homeward direction, however, there loomed the awful probability of a sound spanking. This held them to their purpose until dinner time, acting on empty stomaches, caused them to return to their former calm existence.

In the meantime the police, having been notified that three desperadoes were at large in a comparatively peaceful community, were making a fruitless search of the country for miles around.

GEORGE C. ZIMMER GOES TO HOUSTON, TEX.

The many friends of George C. Zimmer will regret to learn that he leaves Atlanta today for Houston, Texas, where he will make his home. Mr. Zimmer has been traveling out of Atlanta for the last fifteen years, and is intimately known to all the "Knights of the Grip-Sack." He also has a wide acquaintance among the business men. A man of great amiability, he made many friends, all of whom wish him much success in his new field.

Try the change.

You will feel "fit as a lord" in a week's time by breakfasting on Grape-Nuts and cream, a little fruit, a soft boiled egg, some nice, crisp toast, and a cup of well-made Postum.

If you ever try this experiment, you will always bless the day you woke up.

There's a reason why Grape-Nuts food furnishes power to body and brain. It is made of selected parts of the field grains that furnish phosphate of potash in a natural state that can be assimilated by the human body. This joins with the albumen of food and forms the gray matter of the brain and nerve centres.

Feed skillfully and you can "do. things."

The greatest brain workers eat Grape-Nuts.

Ask one or two, they'll tell you.

You meat eaters who are ailing in any sort of way should take the hint.

A prominent authority says:

"There is no doubt of the fact that meat-eating is not essential to human life, and that men can be well nourished without resorting to a flesh diet.

"I think the statement may be accepted without question that, as a rule, we eat too much, not only of meat, but of all forms of food. The question of limiting the diet is based primarily not on the principle of economy, but on the requirements of hygiene.

"At the early breakfasts which Americans are wont to indulge in, that is, a hearty meal before going to their daily work, the omission of meat is to be earnestly advised.

"It is well known that men who are nourished very extensively on certain cereals are capable of the hardest and most enduring labor."

You can depend on the energy from Grape-Nuts longer than from any meal of meat.

WOMEN GO INTO HYSTERICS WHEN CHERRY MINE IS OPENED

Cherry, Ill., February 1.—Work was resumed in the St. Paul mine tonight by scores of men, following the removal late today of the hermetic seal that had kept the subterranean passages closed for two months. Strong efforts will be made to clear the mine of noxious vapors, wall in any smouldering fire and recover the 160-odd bodies of miners who have lain entombed in the lignite labyrinths since the fire broke out on November 14.

It was a tedious task to remove the tons of cement and steel rails from the mouth of the shafts, but many women stood riveted, staring blankly at the workmen as they uncovered the shambles.

The spectators were mostly young widows, some only 16 years old. The women were all quiet during the removal of the lid, standing in the slush and mud about the tipple.

The explorers talked much to each other after halting the elevator at the first break in the casing, about 300 feet below the surface. Their voices from under the metal helmets came reverbrating up the shaft.

One woman near the shaft exclaimed: "Oh, it is my man calling for help, or his spirit condemning us for leaving him in that infernal hole so long."

Orphan Girls Fall Sobbing.

The expression was passed along to other women, and as a sharp rapping sound, made by the tacking on of the oilcloth, cut the air for some distance, two young sisters fell sobbing loudly into each other's arms. These girls have a father and two brothers in the mine.

As the cage finally came to the top a Scotch woman leaned over the iron railing around the shaft. She paid no heed to the helmet men on top of the lift, but watched for the elevator floor, which was empty.

"They're not there," she said dolefully to herself as though she had expected to see the bodies of her husband and two sons brought back. Then the disappointed woman, screaming incoherently, was led home by a nurse. These nurses are always on hand to aid the suffering, and during the late afternoon today probably a dozen women with striped gowns led home as many shawl-clad women and girls who were on the verge of hysterics.

There is much to be done before many bodies can possibly be recovered. No one in charge of the work will venture a definite estimate of when the corpses can be found.

"But when they do bring up bodies," said a Cherry merchant today, "they will need the militia to prevent a riot. These women will be so frenzied that they might destroy the town."

FORTY CORPSES ARE RESCUED FROM THE COLORADO MINE

Primero, Col., February 1.—When darkness fell tonight on Primero, where yesterday the lives of seventy-nine miners were snuffed out by an explosion in the main slope of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company's mine, the bodies of forty victims lay in the temporary morgue installed in the machine shop.

A large force of men was still engaged in restoring ventilation throughout the mine, and hundreds of Primero's citizens lingered about the mouth of the shaft waiting the recovery of the entombed bodies.

Officials of the company on the ground, not needed to supervise the mine work, turned their attention to the relief of families of the victims. Coroner Guilfoil had impaneled a jury to begin an investigation of the catastrophe, and relatives and friends of the identified dead made preparations for their burial.

The cause of the disaster is still a mystery. Several theories are advanced, but definite information as to the cause is not expected until the mine is cleared and an official investigation made.

Leonardo Virgen, a Mexican, and the only surviving miner who is supposed to have been working within a comparatively short distance of the point where the explosion originated, is unable to give a clear statement of what actually occurred or to tell from which direction the force of the explosion came.

The party in charge of J. B. Manly, local mine inspector, came across Leonardo Virgen shortly after 2 o'clock this morning. As if waking from a deep sleep, Virgen opened his eyes and said:

"Please, may I go home now?"

Virgen was hurried to the temporary hospital. Today he had sufficiently recovered to join the ranks of the watchers around the mine entrance.

BARRETT TO SEE PRESIDENT TAFT

And Urge Legislation Against Future Gambling.

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, February 1.—(Special.) Secretary Wilson has made an engagement with President Taft to meet President C. S. Barrett and other officials and representatives of the Farmers' Union, and to discuss with them proposed legislation to curb gambling in agricultural products. The visit to the White House will be made Thursday at 10 o'clock in company with the secretary of agriculture.

There was another meeting of congressmen tonight at the National hotel to discuss pending bills designed to break up gambling in products of the farm. The attendance was not as large as on Saturday and Monday nights, as the congressional reception tonight drew most of the statesmen to the White House, where President Taft and his official family received.

Tomorrow night those congressmen who attended the first meeting will return and report what progress they have made in gaining votes among republican representatives.

The Alabama delegation held a meeting today and adopted brief resolutions indorsing the movement to curb exchange gambling and pledging their hearty support. Members of the Farmers' Union went through the senate and house office buildings today talking with other statesmen about the desire of the farmers for this legislation.

President Barrett is more than pleased with the encouragement which has been met. He is delighted.

"When we call on the president, we will explain our wishes to him just as we would to President Roosevelt or anybody else," he said. "We will tell him what we want and ask if he will help us get it through congress. We will ask him about the progress of the investigation he has ordered made through the department of justice. We would particularly like for him to send in a special message calling attention to this gambling evil, and we hear that he is contemplating it."

NEGRO CONGRESS SELECTS ATLANTA

Nashville, Tenn., February 1.—At a special meeting of the officials of the Sunday School Congress Movement, composed of colored workers, the selection of a place to hold its 1910 session was taken up and disposed of. Invitations had been extended to the congress from many cities throughout the United States, some of which were Muskogee and Oklahoma City, Okla.; Dallas, Texas; Little Rock, Ark.; Chicago, Ill.; Meridian and Vicksburg, Miss.; Savannah and Atlanta, Ga., and Atlantic City, N. J. After a careful examination of the invitations and inducements offered, it is learned that the officials chose for the next meeting place the city of Atlanta. The congress has been invited to meet there with the Liberty Baptist church, at the corner of Jackson and Chestnut streets. The pastor of the church, Rev. J. W. Jackson, D.D., and the church clerk, W. D. Griffin, were notified today by the congress officials of the action and the selecting of Atlanta and their church. A letter signed by Dr. C. H. Clark, chairman of the congress movement, and Rev. Henry A. Boyd, secretary, was sent out as the official notice.

The officers of the congress are: C. H. Clark, chairman; R. H. Boyd, organizer; Henry A. Boyd, secretary; W. S. Ellington, arbiter; William Beckham, missionary superintendent, and R. B. Hudson, recording secretary, all of whom have served since its organization five years ago.

A voluntary petition in bankruptcy was yesterday filed with the clerk of the federal court by I. C. Conn, of Atlanta. The petitioner says he is a civil engineer, and that his liabilities amount to $1,389.65, while $500 will cover his assets.

Orrine Does Cure DRUNKENNESS

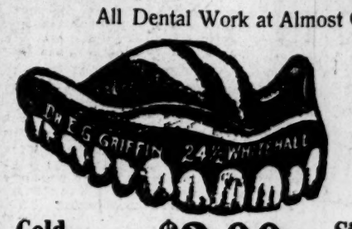

This is a positive fact known to tens of thousands of wives and mothers of this land. They know Orrine is a reliable remedy for the cure of drunkenness, because it has restored their loved ones to lives of sobriety and usefulness. Everyone of these women bought Orrine with full confidence that it would effect a cure or their money would be refunded to them if it failed. This guarantee is in each box. No other remedy for the cure of drunkenness is sold with this liberal guarantee, but Orrine has been so uniformly successful that the makers want the buyers to know that they have full protection if it should fail in any instance. We never publish letters of patients, but recently this letter came to us from Dr. Nolte, 8th and Race Sts., Philadelphia, Pa. Read it and you will readily appreciate why Orrine is so well thought of.

"I have had a remarkable case of inebriacy under my personal observation. The patient drank heavily for fifteen years and reached a degraded condition, which caused the breaking up of his family and separation from his wife. Every hope was given up of ever saving the man from his strong desire for drink, and only a mother's interest finally persuaded him to voluntarily take treatment for his diseased condition. It was my pleasure to recommend Orrine, your liquor habit cure, and the treatment was taken faithfully. This was two years ago and the patient is now in a healthy condition and still abstains from the use of stimulants. I have sold Orrine for a number of years and have always found it to be satisfactory. I believe you have an exceptionally good treatment for this disease."

Orrine is prepared in two forms. No. 1, a powder, absolutely tasteless and odorless, given secretly in food or drink. Orrine No. 2, in pill form, is for those who wish to cure themselves. Orrine costs only $1 a box. The guarantee is in each box. Write for Free Orrine Booklet (mailed in plain sealed envelope) to Orrine Co., 228 Orrine Building, Washington, D. C. Orrine is for sale in this city by Elkin-Watson Drug Co., Marietta and Peachtree Streets. They know Orrine is a reliable and efficacious remedy for drunkenness, and they will not offer you a substitute.

COOPERS CLAIM NUMEROUSERRORS

Motion Made for New Trial for Father and Son.

Two Defendants in Nashville Court With Imposing Array of Friends and Counsel---22 Errors Charged and 700 Exceptions Made.

Nashville, Tenn., February 1.—The motion for a new trial for Colonel D. P. and Robin Cooper, convicted and sentenced to prison for twenty years for the murder of former United States Senator E. W. Carmack, was called before the supreme court today. It is known as "case No. 2," and bids fair to become the most voluminous one ever filed. The transcript of testimony covers 3,670 typewritten pages. The brief filed by the defense covers 447 printed pages, while the arguments of counsel will require probably a thousand more typewritten pages.

The two defendants were in court with a score of relatives and an imposing array of counsel. Judge J. M. Anderson opened for the defense today. Attorney general of the state, Charles T. Cates, will deliver the only argument for the state tommorw, and he will be followed, for the defense, by Luke E. Wright. No other attorneys will speak.

The decision of the court may not be handed down for some time.

22 Errors Claimed.

The defendant's counsel are basing their hopes for a reversal on twenty-two assignments of error, but have excepted to some seven hundred rulings of the court besides.

The principal errors alleged include undue emphasis by the trial judge in his charge on the state's theory of the crime, failure to charge Robin Cooper's independent interest; permitting the jury to hear of Colonel Cooper's alleged shortage while clerk of Maury county; the exclusion of Governor Patterson's testimony as to Colonel Cooper's mental state before the shooting; the exclusion of certain editorials attacking Cooper; the emphasis the court put on the theory that Carmack was shot in the back.

Story of the Killing.

The killing, which took place on one of the prominent streets of Nashville a year ago last November, was the culmination of as long and as bitter a political feud as has ever marked the annals of the state. Carmack, brilliant as editor and statesman, had been a protege of Colonel Cooper. But the men quarreled. As editor of The Nashville Tennessean, Carmack criticised Colonel Cooper, and editorially referred to him as a "little bald-headed angel." Cooper, according to testimony at the trial, sent word to Carmack that if his name (Cooper's) were mentioned again, he would kill Carmack. Carmack the next day used Cooper's name. The same day the men met. Cooper was accompanied by his son, Robin. The latter shot and killed Carmack as the editor was drawing a revolver.

The Coopers pleaded self-defense, but the state proved that one of the bullets pierced Carmack in the back of the neck, smashing the spinal cord and causing instant death. The jury, after a trial lasting nearly three months, found the Coopers guilty of murder in the second degree, and assessed their punishment at imprisonment for twenty years.

The trial marked one of the hardest fought battles in the judicial history of the state. A score of eminent counsel were arrayed on either side and even now, for the argument before the supreme court, the defense has added Luke E. Wright to its list of attorneys.

TOLD OF WIFE'S DEATH, HUSBAND KILLS SELF

Lexington, Ky., February 1.—Upon being told of the death of his wife in a local hospital this afternoon, Clarence J. Fleming, a contractor, prominent in local affairs, drew a revolver and fired a bullet into his body, dying almost instantly. The bodies of the husband and wife will be buried in the same grave.

The monthly sheriff's sale was held at the courthouse yesterday, during the course of which the following properties were disposed of: A lot at the corner of South Moreland avenue and Kirkwood avenue, levied upon at the property of A. Bradbury, was sold to J. H. Porter for $1,100; a house and lot at 223 East Fair street, the property of Kolman and Annie Koplin, sold to D. Eichberg for $3,900; 112 shares of the Birmingham, Columbus and St. Andrews railway were sold to W. M. Gordon at $100 a share.

GUBERNATORIAL CANDIDATE ROASTS ALABAMA LEADERS

Montgomery, Ala., February 1.—(Special.)—"Alabamians are able to conduct their own affairs of state and to elect men to office without the advice or suggestion of any foreign element" is a terse sentence in the platform of Charles Henderson, candidate for governor, made public today, who continues: "The time has come in this state when the people of Alabama should be permitted to manage their own affairs without the interference or dictation of outside influences, either in favor of one faction or the other."

It is noted that there has been a time of turmoil when men were in conflict to the point of dividing families. This ought to be stopped, thinks the writer, to the end "that there should be political peace in Alabama."

After discussing the principles of local self-government and its teaching that no law can be successfully enforced without the sympathy of the people, and going somewhat into the history of the control of the liquor traffic, Captain Henderson urges a fair trial for the prohibition laws on the book, at the same time saying, however, that "if experience should demonstrate the impracticability of the laws, it would be my policy to recommend such legislation as would restrict the evils of the traffic, so far as conditions would warrant." All of which is taken to mean that he would not veto a bill that could result in local option.

WOMAN IN CASE MAY BE FREED

Sensation Is Sprung by Mrs. Ford's Attorney.

Cincinnati, February 1.—Mrs. Jeanette Stewart Ford may be freed tomorrow from the charge of levying blackmail on Charles L. Warriner, defaulting local treasurer of the Big Four railroad. This unexpected turn to the woman's trial came this afternoon when her attorney demanded the dismissal of the case on the grounds that the prosecuting attorney refused to submit to the court a transcript of the evidence before the grand jury which indicted his client. The motion was taken under advisement by the court, and a decision will be rendered tomorrow morning.

While decision is reserved, the judge declared his belief that the point of the defense was well taken. On the other hand, Prosecutor Hunt declared that whatever might be the result he would refuse to give up the documents in question, as they might bring the names of innocent persons into the case.

Alleged Accomplices.

This move by Mrs. Ford's attorneys created a profound sensation, following as it did upon the declaration of the woman's lawyers that "Warriner was not the only guilty person in the $643,000 defalcation," and that before Mrs. Ford's trial was concluded they would "compel the revelation of his alleged accomplices."

Warriner, attired in his convict garb, resumed the witness stand at the continuance of the trial today.

Under the most rigid cross-examination he maintained his demeanor of calm indifference, and again related the story of his relations with Mrs. Ford with apparent oblivion of the focused gaze of the curious who thronged the court room.

Warriner described an interview with Mrs. Ford on the porch of his home last spring, when she asked for money to pay a hotel bill, and he gave her $20 or $30, all he had in his pockets.

A letter was introduced, written by Mrs. Ford to Edgar S. Cooke, in which she said of Warriner: "Got some money from him to pay my hotel bill and for your birthday, but not enough to spare you a ten spot besides."

Mrs. Ford Jealous.

Letters were introduced to show Mrs. Ford's jealousy of Cooke's wife.

Mrs. Ford demanded that Cooke leave "O. H., because she won't let you come to me." It was brought out that "O. H." referred to Mrs. Cooke.

Several of the letters mentioned visits to "C," and Warriner said this initial meant Frank Comstock, his predecessor as Big Four treasurer. There was a telegram from Mrs. Ford to Warriner in which she wired: "Deserted in my hour of trouble." Warriner wrote a memorandum on it to Cooke, saying: "This is pretty bad to be floating around."

NORCROSS FRIENDS OF FRANK E. HOWELL

Pleased Over His Appointment as District Attorney by President Taft.

Norcross, Ga., February 1.—(Special.)—Frank S. Howell, of Omaha, Neb., who was recently named by President Taft as United States attorney for Nebraska, is well known in Norcross, having spent his boyhood on the fine old river plantation of the Howell family, 7 miles out from Norcross.

Mr. Howell married Miss Clara Jones, a Gwinnett county girl, whose father, Colonel George H. Jones, is still a resident of Norcross.

CLAIM PAUPERS ARE ILL TREATED

Cartersville Ladies Go Before Grand Jury.

Cartersville, Ga., February 1.—(Special.)—The Bartow county grand jury, whose presentments were made public today, has recommended that the present pauper farm, which consists of approximately 400 acres, and located 10 miles north of Cartersville, be immediately sold and another purchased nearer this city. It is also recommended that a suitable home, in which the unfortunate inmates may be properly cared for, be at once constructed by the county.

Rumors of a somewhat sensational nature hahve been coming to this city for some time regarding the pauper farm, and of the very poor manner in which the thirteen white inmates, all of whom are old and infirm, were cared for. Matters were brought to a climax when the presentments of the July grand jury were published, and recommendations made that the jailer be paid 50 cents per day for food to be furnished to negro prisoners, while in another paragraph the grand jury spoke in commendatory terms of the fact that the county authorities had managed to furnish everything for the pauper farm inmates at a total cost of $1.50 per month.

Cartersville Women Aroused.

The discrepancy of between 50 cents per day day for the food of negro prisoners and 5 cents a day for all necessities for the aged white people on the county poor farm, aroused the ladies of the local Woman's Home Mission Society, who made an investigation, which discovered such conditions at the pauper farm that they went before the grand jury for the January term, 1910, and urged the removal of the poor people to a point nearer this city.

A committee from the grand jury visited the farm a few days since and found "the situation there, considered from a financial standpoint, and especially from a humane standpoint, not of the best." Three of the five county commissioners who have been seen favor the move.

"BOOZE DEPOT" HAS A NARROW ESCAPE

The branch office of the Southern Express Company at 62½ South Forsyth street, which has gained the name of the "booze depot," because of the exclusive handling of whisky shipments, was visited by a burglar at 10:30 o'clock Monday night.

The burglar was frightened off before he had time to help himself to the fine brands of "O. P" (other people's) whisky left there, and before he could wind up the job by blowing the safe.

Patrolman Tom Ivy, passing along on his beat, heard a noise in the "depot," and upon making an investigation, found that an entrance had been forced by tearing a hole into the wall through the stair steps leading into the place. Listening intently he could hear the marauder tipping about in the crowded room.

The four call officers were sent from the police station on the run, and when the place was surrounded, the drag-net failed to contain their man. He had mysteriously disappeared, though not through the hole in the stair steps.

Tuesday morning clerks checking up the whisky shipments found all intact and just as they had been left when the branch office was closed the night before. The safe had not been disturbed.

The application for a charter as the Troupe Company was filed in the superior court yesterday by D. D. Miller, Calvin E. Troupe, John D. Little, Winfield Jones and M. F. Goldstein. The petitioners propose to engage in the business of acquiring, owning and developing new and useful improvements to beds and folding beds and also to acquire patents on same. The capital stock is placed at $100,000. The petitioners are represented by Payne, Little & Jones.

SECRET OF GIRLS' SOCIETY WAS TOO "CUTE" TO KEEP; EMORY BOYS AT PEACE AGAIN

Emory College, Oxford, Ga., February 1.—(Special.)—The mystery that has been puzzling Emory students for the past two weeks, has at last been solved; the indomitable, girl-like desire to tell has conquered, and when this story is printed, the meaning of "W. N. C."—the name of the club recently formed by 15 Oxford society girls—will be public property.

It will be recalled that this secret organization was formed some two weeks ago and it so excited the curiosity of 300 Emory students, and others, that the press of the state began asking the question: "What's the W. N. C.?" Friends of the young Oxonians who saw the news dispatches became curious, and the result was scores of letters from all parts of Georgia, asking for enlightenment. And the members of the club laughed in great glee—they were girls and they were actually keeping a secret!

But, alas, Sunday afternoon, the secret leaked and a newspaper correspondent got the benefit of it. Said the maid, "It's just too cute for anything and somebody ought to know. Will you promise never to tell?" And she told the secrets to eager ears. Here they are:

Ostensibly the club is of athletic, literary and social nature, and these sides will be consistently cultivated—consistently, for the motto is "Consistency, thou art a jewel." But the real purpose of the organization is to help smother the universal craze for sending souvenir post cards, and if you never get another card from an Oxford lassie don't be surprised, for they have promised to "Write No Cards" in the future. And they also want it understood that they "Want No Courting." But to get back to the real mystery, the name—speak it softly—the "W. N. C." is the—"Willy, Nilly Club." Cute, isn't it?

The weekly meetings of the debating society of the Atlanta school have revealed the fact that there are several heavyweight debaters in the school.

The debating council is considering the matter of having debates at some public place once or twice a month to which the public will be invited.

Thought Prisoner Was Gone.

Macon, Ga., Februry 1.—(Special.)—When a remittitur came in from the state court of appeals today confirming the sentence of the superior court upon Lozzie Williams, a negro held for burglary committed at a residence on the Columbus road, an investigation revealed that the authorities had no trace of such a prisoner. FOREST SERVICE IS "EXTRAVAGANT"

Such Is the Charge Made by Representative Mondell.

Washington, February 1.—Attacking the administration of the forest service as "scandalously extravagant," Representative Mondell, of Wyoming, undertook to explain why forest conservations were not profitable during debate on the agricultural appropriation bill in the house today. He declared that the enormous force employed in Washington and in the forests were charges upon the service.

Expenditures for newspaper and magazine work for the promotion of the Appalachian forest reserve, Mr. Mondell characterized as scandalous.

"What is the salary of the official puffer?" inquired Representative Fitzgerald, of New York.

"That is a title I am not familiar with," replied Mr. Mondell, "although they have some wonderful titles."

PROBE ORDERED FOR HIGH PRICES

Committee of Congress to Make Investigation.

Champ Clark and Chairman Payne Agree on Resolution Which the Latter Introduces. Investigation to Be Very Thorough.

Washington, February 1.—The cost of living in the United States is to be thoroughly inquired into by the house of representatives through its most powerful committee—the ways and means. Late today Representative Payne, of New York, chairman of that committee, and majority leader in the house, introduced his resolution providing for an investigation along the broadest lines.

Prior to introducing his measure, Mr. Payne conferred with Representative Champ Clark, the minority leader, who had been designated with him by the committee to draft the instrument authorizing the investigation.

The committee is to inquire into any alleged increase in the cost of the necessaries of life, some of which, such as clothing, fuel, furniture, meats and foodstuffs, are enumerated. Wholesale and retail prices and rates of profit are to be investigated. The question of whether the tariff is responsible for the alleged high cost of living is covered in a general provision as to "whether prices are affected, increased or otherwise, by any laws of the United States."

The hearings of the committee will be open to the public. It may sit anywhere in the United States, and summon and swear witnesses.

The resolution, which will be referred to the ways and means committee and doubtless reported back for passage, follows:

"Resolved, That the committee on ways and means is hereby empowered and directed to make a thorough and complete investigation into the cost of living in the United States and any alleged increase thereof, and the cost of the necessaries of life, including clothing, fuel, furniture, meats, breadstuffs and provisions generally, and implements, the cost of production, wholesale and retail prices thereof and the rate of profit to those who sell and distribute the same, and the cause of such increased cost and price, and whether and in what manner such cost and prices are affected, increased or otherwise by any laws of the United States, and to investigate, recommend and report such legislation as will, in its judgment, contribute to restore such prices to their normal level; that said committee is further authorized to investigate and report, during the same period, the cost of living and of the necessities of life as aforesaid in foreign countries, and if such cost has increased, the cause thereof.

"Said committee and any subcommittee thereof shall have the power to sit in Washington or elsewhere in the United States during the sessions of the house or otherwise, to subpoena and examine witnesses under oath, to administer oaths to witnesses, to employ experts and such other assistance, including counsel, as it shall deem necessary, and to send for records, papers and all other evidence that may be necessary to make the investigation full and complete.

"All the costs and expenses of such investigation, including all necessary printing, shall be paid from the contingent fund of the house of representatives.

"The hearings of the committee shall be open to the public, and the committee is directed to include in their report the evidence taken."

PUT UNDER ARREST JUST FOR SPEAKING

Alleged Deaf-Mute Betrays Self to a Policeman.

Pittsburg, Pa., February 1.—By ill luck George Williams, an alleged deaf-mute, picked out the home of Policeman Harry Meyers as a likely place to present his card, containing the words, "Please help me. I am deaf, dumb and destitute."

"You're under arrest," said Myers.

"What for?" gruffly demanded the mute.

"Just for speaking," answered Meyers. And then Williams was locked up and later sentenced to thirty days in the workhouse.

MACON CHAMBER HOLDS IMPORTANT MEETING

Vigorous Fight Made on Proposed Postal Savings Bank and Oleomargarine Tax.

Macon, Ga., February 1.—(Special.) At the meeting of the chamber of commerce this afternoon a vigorous fight was made on the proposed postal savings bank and a committee, consisting of Emory Winship, T. R. Rayer, T. D. Tinsley, J. W. Cobb and L. P. Hillyer, were appointed to investigate and draw such resolutions as may be proper, protesting against the issuing a law creating such financial institution in congress.

A committee will also be appointed to take up a resolution asking the removal of the tax on oleomargarine by congress, as has other Georgia cities already.

Plans will be put in the hands of a committee for arranging a butter and cream contest among the dairymen of this community at the suggestion of the department of agriculture.

Loss of Appetite

is loss of vitality, vigor or tone, and is often a precursor of prostrating sickness.

This is why it is serious, and most serious to people that must keep up and doing or get behindhand.

The best thing you can do for loss of appetite is to take Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pills—they will make you ready to eat, give a relish to your food and assist in its digestion, and their effects will be permanent.

This statement is confirmed by the largest volume of voluntary testimony in the world.

Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pills cure indigstion, dyspepsia, all stomach troubles and build up the whole system.

Ladies, when down town, will enjoy the rest and ease of Boyd's Cafe, Whitehall and Alabama.

RECEPTION FOR PARKS

Upon His Return to Milledgeville After Trip Round World.

Milledgeville, Ga., February 1.—(Special.)—President M. M. Parks, of the Georgia Normal and Industrial college, sailed from New York October 16 for a trip around the world. The many objects of interest that he saw have been somewhat put before the school during his absence by showers of post cards that came from him from time to time to the teachers and young ladies of the school. Last evening a telegram was received announcing his return to American soil. He is expected here next week.

For some time the girls of the school have been planning to give him a hearty greeting, but today the interest of the citizens in his return caused the plans to be changed, and now it is expected on the 11th to give him a royal reception, the citizens as well as the college uniting to make it the most brilliant event of the year.

CRAMPS OF STOMACH CAUSED HIS FAILURE

Queer Reason for Bankruptcy Given by Broker Dickinson.

Chicago, February 1.—Cramps of the stomach, which came on at the same time he was in financial difficulty, was given by John Dickinson, former broker, as one of the reasons of his failure, when he was examined yesterday in the bankruptcy court.

"Things were bad," said Dickinson. "Thursday one of my largest creditors made a demand for $20,000. Friday I got the cramps. Then I decided to quit."

"Were the cramps physical or financial?" asked Attorney Ringer.

"Both," replied the former broker.

Dickinson left last night for California, where he lives on a fruit farm.

GEORGIAN IS KILLED IN MEXICAN WRECK

Tragic Death of E. H. McKay, Formerly of Columbus.

Columbus, Ga., February 1.—(Special.)—A private telegram received today told of the tragic death in Mexico of E. H. McKay, formerly of this city. He became locomotive engineer after leaving Columbus, running on a Mexican road, and was killed in a wreck at Delora, his engine turning over while rounding a curve. He will be buried at Laredo, where he resided.

"Doc" White Holding Out.

Washington, February 1.—"Doc" White, the Chicago American League club's clever left-hander, has joined the army of holdouts.

"I have not and am not going to sign until I have a good, long talk with President Comiskey," said White last night. "He sent me a contract at the same old figure, right after the season closed, and I returned it. I believe that I have worked hard enough for the club to entitle me to more money."

FIRE AT COLUMBUS CAUSES HEAVY LOSS

Large Dry Goods Store of H. Bonfeld Practically Gutted.

Columbus, Ga., February 1.—(Special.)—Fire tonight practically gutted the large clothing, dry goods and millinery store of H. Bonfeld, doing damage that will go high into the thousands. The furniture stock of the David S. Goldberg Company, in an adjoining store, was also badly damaged by fire and water.

The two stores are in one of the main business blocks, and a bad conflagration was threatened, the fire being subdued only after a long, stubborn fight.

Losses are partly covered by insurance.

While fighting the fire in the upper story of the H. Bonfeld store, J. B. Aush, a fireman, was severely injured. He was accidentally struck in the back with an ax by another fire-fighter, and had to be conveyed from the burning building. The accident was due to the confusion and darkness of the second story, which was filled with black smoke, through which the firemen had to make their way.

KENTUCKY LEGISLATURE KILLS PROHIBITION

Senate Refers Unit Local Option Extension Bill to Unfavorable Committee.

Frankfort, Ky., February 1.—Hope of prohibition legislation at the present session of the legislature was killed today when, by a vote of 16 to 14, the senate referred the Watkins county unit local option extension bill to the committee on religion and morals, which is admittedly adverse to the bill. A similar bill was referred to the same committee some days ago.

1,000 Lives sacrificed in Atlanta every year by needless sickness. Vote for Bonds.

WOMEN OF ATLANTA WORK IN INTERESTS OF BONDS; MANY MEETINGS ARE HELD

"I felt that men ought to entreat women to cooperate with them in the high task of making the world a nobler and holier and humaner residence."—James Douglas.

Never in the history of Atlanta, and probably never in the history of any southern city, has there been the concentrated interest expressed in a public movement as that shown by Atlanta women yesterday as they directed a well-organized campaign for the passage of the bond measure.

There were nine different organization meetings, these organizations standing for every phase of civic social progress and all concentrated now on one vital point of the bond issue.

At 10 o'clock Mrs. E. G. McCabe presided at her residence at a meeting of the Daughters of the Confederacy, when she clearly set forth the relation of patriotism to a movement which, typified in the bond issue, stood for the city's history of the present and the future. A plan of action was discussed and decided upon.

At 11 o'clock Mrs. Samuel M. Inman presided at a meeting of the Atlanta Art Association at the Carnegie library and explained how the realization of a city beautiful depended upon cleanliness, sanitation, waterworks, well-kept streets, parks and playgrounds, which might be gained through the passage of the bond issue.

Mrs. Lee Presides.

Mrs. James W. Lee, second vice president of the Atlanta Woman's Club, presided at a meeting of that organization, which in its many lines of work has been a marked factor in Atlanta's constructive life for the last twelve years.

The Consumers' League and the Woman's Missionary Association met in the morning, passing resolutions urging work for the bonds, and in the afternoon there were meetings of the Inman Park Chrysanthemum Club, the Florence Crittenton board, the Pioneer Women, Mrs. Joseph Morgan presiding, and the Uncle Remus Memorial Association, Mrs. A. McD. Wilson presiding.

The Council of Jewish Women and the Hebrew Ladies' Benevolent Society held a joint meeting at the Standard Club, presided over by Mrs. Joseph Eichberg and Mrs. Charles Herman, and addressed by Mrs. Woods White and others. At this meeting the "Grandmothers' Club," an organization of elderly ladies, who have never come forward in public work, signified their desire to join the City Federation, that they might be a part of the organized work for a movement which touched every point in the city's prosperity.

Speakers Appointed.

Mrs. Woods White, president of the City Federation, who is ably directing the campaign of the women, appointed as speakers at the various meetings of Tuesday: Mrs. J. K. Ottley, Mrs. Hugh Willet, Mrs. Victor Kreigshaber, Mrs. R. M. Walker, Mrs. W. E. Stockbridge and Mrs. E. G. McCabe, these ladies assisting the presiding officers in planning the campaign work along different channels.

Mrs. White herself attended four meetings in the morning and as many in the afternoon, at each one bringing the earnest message that the life of the child—the future citizen—his physical and educational welfare depended upon the action which would be taken by the citizens of Atlanta in the present crisis which brings about the necessity of the bond issue.

Mrs. John K. Ottley, who, as chairman of the woman's committee of the board of education, has carefully studied conditions in all school districts, told of the lack of school facilities which would be in a degree remedied by the passage of the bond issue. She talked of the amount of illness on the part of school children which was directly traceable to homes not sanitary because of an inadequate water system and finally touched upon the limitations of Atlanta as a city beautiful until she had water, sewerage and approved sanitary conditions.

At the Woman's Club.

A significant feature of the Atlanta Woman's Club meeting was the very broad information all the women present seemed to possess concerning the bond movement.

They betrayed very plainly not a mere general comprehension of the purpose of the bond issue, but a knowledge of the details of municipal needs and the reason for the bonds as the logical solution, which proved that they had thoroughly posted themselves in the matter.

Their discussions of the methods they expect to use in their part of the campaign gave evidence that they had thoroughly studied the matter, that they were convinced, and ready if necessary to give reasonable explanations and information wherever and whenever they might be called upon for them.

Mrs. J. W. Lee presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. Hamilton Douglas, who was detained at home by illness, and the principal address was by Mrs. W. Woods White. She suggested the valuable influence club women might exert, not only with the men who will vote, but with women who are not allied with women's clubs, and who have their information of the bond movement possibly from husbands and brothers opposed to it.

Mrs. Marx Talks.

Mrs. David Marx, Mrs. John K. Ottley and Mrs. Lee made brief talks and suggestions, as to the manner in which the club women may reach all elements of people and in every line of activity. At Mrs. Lee's suggestion, the work will be pushed in the mill districts, through the settlement workers. Speakers will explain to them at called meetings the bond movement and they will carry this same message among the people with whom they are in daily contact.

Mrs. Marx spoke of the Federation of Trades' celebration Monday night, and of the very lucid explanations made there of the tax question, and Mrs. Ottley urged that all the women made there of the tax question, and to act as "scouts," seeking where information is most needed and supplying it.

Committee Appointed.

Mrs. Lee appointed Mrs. Marx, Mrs. J. P. Averill and Mrs. Alexander Stirling a committee to draft the resolutions expressing the club's interest and cooperation, and these resolutions were unanimously passed.

Meeting of Woman's Auxiliary.

In conformity to the resolution adopted last Friday by the City Federation of Women's Clubs, Mrs. W. H. Wiggs called a meeting of Woman's Auxiliary to the Tabernacle infirmary, for the purpose of uniting effort for the cooperation requested of the women of Atlanta.

The attendance was large and much enthusiasm manifested. Bond buttons and literature were sulpplied:

Mesdames J. W. Awtry, R. T. Standfield and George Peacock, committee on resolutions, offered the following, which were unanimously adopted:

"Whereas, his honor, the mayor; Hon. Walter McElreath, chairman of the bond campaign committee, and a committee from the Chamber of Commerce have asked the cooperation of all women's clubs in Atlanta in the work of securing the ratification of the proposed bond issue, intended to put Atlanta in a first-class sanitary condition, remove the obstacles to health and give us better school and hospital facilities; and

"Whereas, we have full confidence in the opinion of the mayor and general council and the bond commission as to the needs of our city, after their painstaking and thorough investigation of the subject, covering a whole year, and we find that the bond ordinance amply safeguards the expenditure of every dollar of the proceeds of these bonds; therefore be it

"Resolved by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Tabernacle infirmary, in session called to consider this subject, That we unanimously and enthusiastically pledge our active cooperation and cordial support to secure this bond issue, and we will use our influence to the utmost to induce all of our friends not only to register, but actually cast their votes on election day."

Mrs. Lowry Pleads for Hospital.

"For better hospital facilities, I am especially interested in the bond issue," said Mrs. Robert J. Lowry. Mrs. Lowry is president of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Grady hospital, and through her effort and generosity, the movement was started and carried through which resulted in the building of the children's ward of the hospital, where hundreds of little children have been saved.

"We may talk of the people who are helpless and dependent, and all institutions destined for these are good, but I am sure there are no people in the world more helpless than those who are afflicted with some form of bodily disease or physical suffering.

"Atlanta has outgrown her hospital facilities and with no criticism toward anybody, the conditions are such now, with our large population, that our hospital is inadequate to meet the daily needs. It was heartrending during the summer months when sickness prevailed to see how badly crowded our hospital was and to know that our sick could not be made as comfortable as they should be. I recall patients having to be placed on cots in the hall.

"The congestion came like the growth of the town, before our citizens could realize it. It is our duty in this particular institution to do our utmost to have passed the measure which will insure improved conditions.

"I scarcely see how we can honestly invite people to come and settle in our city unless we can assure them that in case of illness they can be well cared for.

"I was encouraged when I saw Atlanta women were aroused and were going to work for the passage of the bond issue. Atlanta women have proven what they can do in cooperating in public matters and as monuments to their fidelity to public interest and to their charity are institutions which reach out protecting arms to every phase of human suffering, whether it is to the little helpless babe left without father or mother, to the homeless girl, to the little street boy or to the aged man or woman upon whom the hand of disease lies continuously.

"Where, through the men and women, there has already been expressed so much beautiful Christian work, I cannot believe Atlanta men and women, working together now, will not arouse a universal civic responsibility which will result in the passage of the bond issue."

OZO MULSION

The Distinguishing Feature of Ozomulsion is its CURATIVE QUALITY, Which All Other emulsions Lack.

SAVED HER LIFE.

Among the letters from grateful patients on file in our Laboratories is the following from Mrs. Mabel Osborne, of Jacksonville, Fla.:

Gentlemen—I had been pronounced by my physician consumptive, and told that I would die, and had given up all hope, when a very dear friend gave me a bottle of your Ozomulsion, and if I had not begun taking it right away I do not believe I would be alive today.

When I began taking Ozomulsion I had fits of coughing that left me in a completely exhausted condition. I had abandoned all hope of ever being cured of that hated cough, but after taking six bottles I have gained sixteen pounds, can do a hard day's work and must truly say that I feel like a girl of sixteen. I have lain in bed for hours after a fit of coughing, when life seemed a burden, but, thanks to Ozomulsion, I am now well and strong.

Ozomulsion is known, recommended and sold by worthy druggists everywhere in 16 oz. and 8 oz. bottles.

Always ask for Ozomulsion by name.

That all may experience for themselves what this exclusive preparation will do, a 3 oz. Trial bottle will be sent by mail to all who send their address, by postcard or letter, to the Ozomulsion Co., 548 Pearl St., New York.

water department are now sorely taxed," he said, "to take care of both the old and the new territory. Damage suits are piling up and will grow. Atlanta has no water course like nearly all the other large cities, and therefore we are called upon to make special provisions for sewage."

He spoke of the raising of the tax rate, and said a raise would take five years to improve the sewer system alone, and twelve years to make all the improvements. If the tax rate was doubled it would take at least two years to make improvements. The United States is issuing bonds to build the Panama canal, and all the big office buildings have issued bonds. On account of the waterworks receipts the city is in a good financial condition to issue bonds, and Atlanta's reputation is now at stake. The future health, the schooling of the children, the taking care of the garbage, the furnishing of water, the taking care of the sick are all the issue. More than 10 per cent of the deaths last year was from tuberculosis. There is twice as much typhoid fever in Atlanta as there is in other cities of the same size. This is all because we have not taken the proper precautions to make Atlanta what it should be—the healthiest city on the face of the globe. The bonds for the crematory are necessary, because the back yards must be kept clean if the spread of disease is checked. Denver is trying to buy its waterworks for $14,500,000. In the sixth ward not $25,000 of the bond issue will be used.

He said that the rate of 4½ per cent on bonds was not large, because if the rate was less the bonds would not sell at par. If they were sold at the 4½ rate the city will receive a premium, as all bonds are sold on a "basis."

The bonds will be sold after advertisement, and only as needed. All the bonds will mature annually at the rate of $100,000 a year. The campaign is in excellent shape. There are no politics, and all are working for the good of Atlanta.

Atlanta, the mayor said, was a home-building city, and the taxpayers owe it to themselves to better the condition of the city by an issue of bonds. There will be about 9,000 voters registered, and that means that 6,000 must put their ballots in the boxes for the bonds.

For the Second Ward.

George I. Walker, the chairman of the Second and Third Ward Club, was the next speaker. He said he had never made a public speech before in his life, and only spoke now because it was a duty. He said his club had worked for its section of the city, and a great deal of good had been done. Then came the question of a bond election. It was found out that the south side was in a bad sanitary condition.

He stated that the ordinances adopted by council were now satisfactory to the people of the south side and the Second and Third Ward Club was now for the bond issue. The council covered all objections, and now that the voters knew that the bond money would be equitably expended, the people of the second and third wards would support the bonds. There is now absolutely no danger of the bond money being used other than outlined in the city ordinances.

For the Third Ward.

The next speaker was Dan W. Green, member of the advisory committee from the third ward. He took the work of getting the voters to the polls on election day. He said some people did not realize the importance of voting for the bonds. He said the third ward was the very worst section of the city when it came to bad sewerage.

Mr. Green made a strong appeal for sewers, more water, better schools, clean yards and better hospital facilities.

William A. Vernoy spoke next. He spoke for the third ward, and said the need of his section of the city was imperative.

"I was at first against the issue," he said, "but I have changed about, and now believe the size of the issue is not too large, and the rate not too great. We need more water and more sewers. Our people want to do what is right, and there are only a few who are against the bonds, although they try to make a great deal of noise."

The next speaker of the evening was Robert A. Broyles. He made one of his stirring speeches that awoke the greatest enthusiasm. He paid a glowing tribute to Mayor Maddox, and said that no petty politics actuated him in his work for bonds. He said that men were working for bonds who were not in politics, but were only for Atlanta and the good of the people.

Mr. Broyles dwelt upon the needs of the bonds. He went over the issue and said that every dollar would be expended over the entire city, fairly and honestly. He said that the mayor and council had pledged themselves to do what was right, and they will do it.

His remarks were frequently applauded.

F. A. Quillian, who arrived late, was called upon, and he said he had just come from a meeting of negro voters, and he had found the negro votes all for the bonds. He invited any one present to ask him any question about the bond issue. All who questioned him were given the requisite reply.

The meeting adjourned after all those present had pledged themselves to vote and work for the bond issue.

Colored Voters Meet.

An enthusiastic meeting of the colored voters of the fourth ward was held last night at Liberty Baptist church. The bond issue was unanimously indorsed. Speeches were made by the following: H. W. Quillian, Bishop Turner, A. Graves, Jackson McHenry and Rev. O. Harrison. S. B. Laster acted as chairman of the meeting.

Another meeting will be held at Fort Street church on the 10th of February.

Give Your Stomach A Vacation

By Using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Which Digest Food Without Any Aid.

A Trial Package Sent Free.

The stomach should have a rest when it is tired out and irritated from dyspepsia and indigestion. One should not call upon the stomach in this condition to do its full and complete duty. What the stomach needs is natural assistance, and when this is given it the stomach responds quickly to the needed rest and comes back to its duties refreshed and invigorated.

When you feel as though your stomach were a piece of lead, when gases or foul odor issue from your throat, when your tongue is coated and your appetite gone, it is high time to send your stomach on a vacation.

The stomach is constantly coming in contact with foreign substances, which it must reduce in form to give strength and health to the other organs of the body. It is the commissary department of the human system, and must furnish from such supplies as come to it all that such a system demands.

If the stomach becomes deranged and cannot furnish all that is necessary, it weakens the entire machinery of man and is itself placed out of commission. It cannot cure itself because the curative powers of Nature receive their force from the stomach, so that if the stomach issues imperfect nourishment it cannot receive perfect curative means for its own benefit.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets impart all the power, vigor and strength necessary to the stomach. They do the stomach's work and without calling on this organ for assistance.

If you would put your meal in a glass jar and with it place the correct amount of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets you could sit down and watch these little tablets digest the meal as perfectly as the most healthy stomach. This demonstration has been made in almost every state in the Union by these tablets, one grain of a single ingredient being capable of digesting 3,000 grains of food.

If you have the slightest doubt about your stomach, go to the nearest drug store and buy a box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, price 50c, or send us your name and address and we will immediately send you by mail a trial package free. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

HUSBAND CATCHING BY FAT WOMEN.

Many a too plump lady is groaning in spirit, at this moment, as she lolls back with a lollipop between finger and thumb, at the thought of her matrimonial chances.

She tells herself she can never give up her lolling and her lollipops and go in for exercising and dieting instead. Not even for a husband. Yet one glance over her bulging breasts, at her equally well advertised hips, tells her all hope is vain unless she reduce.

Now, such girls are simply behind the times, or they would not worry about their reducing. They would reduce—and do it without disturbance of their appetite for candy or luxurious ease. All that is needed to take off twelve to sixteen ounces a day, and rapidly reduce the hips, chin, abdomen, etc. (where fat is most objectionable) is one pleasant, elegant Marmola Prescription Tablet, after meals and at bedtime.

Get the fat off where it jellies most and see what that change will do toward attracting the men. The tablets are not injurious in any way (being made after the famous Marmola Prescription—viz.: ½ oz. Marmola, ½ oz. Fl. Ex. Cascara Aromatic, 3½ oz. Peppermint Water); and they are not expensive, the Marmola Co., 287 Farmer Bldg., Detroit, Mich., and all druggists asking only seventy-five cents for a large case.

IT IS UP TO THE RAILROAD COMMISSION.

Attention is called by a correspondent, whose communication is published today, to the fact that the $1,232,000 of debentures issued by the Atlanta and West Point railroad in 1881 were given to the stockholders at a 100 per cent dividend.

They represent, therefore, not an actual investment, but an accumulated surplus.

Now the Atlanta and West Point proposes to take up these taxable debentures with a non-taxable stock, making the exchange with the stockholders at the rate of one share of stock worth $160 to $170 for one debenture worth $100.

In other words, it has added some $800,000 to that surplus, and now proposes to distribute that to its stockholders.

Besides the foregoing, attention is also called to the fact that a few years ago these same stockholders were given an extra dividend of 25 per cent, a total of 125 per cent to date, in addition to the regular annual dividends, which have been never failing.

It would appear from this that the stockholders have already more than gotten their money back, in addition to which they own a safe and remunerative stock upon which the annual dividends come with unremitting regularity.

Taking into consideration these splendid results from the operation of the property, what suggestion could be more pertinent or timely than that the public should come in on this continuous "melon cutting" performance, at least to the extent of being furnished a double track and other needed improvements instead of being called upon later to pay for these improvements in the shape of interest on a large bond issue?

Valuable franchises and profitable business have been given this road by the public; are they not entitled to some return when there is a possibility of making it?

The Constitution simply submits these facts and suggestions for the consideration of the railroad commission, which must soon pass upon this new stock issue, involving a distribution to the stockholders of the remaining surplus of some $800,000.

As one of the foremost traffic highways between the markets of the east and the great southwest, it is imperative that this railroad shall, in the near future, be double-tracked.

This is no distant or chimerical proposition; it is a thing now practically at hand and so admitted by President H. Walters, of the Atlantic Coast Line, one of the dominant factors in West Point affairs, as well as by other officials of the road.

In passing upon the proposition as to whether the road should use its surplus, as far as it will go, in making this improvement, or as a gift to its stockholders, who already have nearly $300 of value for every $100 invested, the railroad commission will be making important and far-reaching precedent.

What is that precedent to be?

Is it to be periodic distribution to stockholders of all public utility surplus?

Or, is it to be, first, improvements demanded in the interest of the public service, letting extra dividends follow when those improvements have been made?

With a perfect property, fully equipped for safe and adequate service to the public, there could be no reasonable objection raised to the distribution of such surplus as good business management might accumulate upon a basis of just and equitable rates.

THE OVERWHELMING BOND SENTIMENT.

On the street cars, round the hearthstone, on the corner, in the stores, the offices and the shops you hear talk indicating the rising tide of irresistible sentiment for the $3,000,000 bond issue.

Only semi-occasionally, above the tones of the universal voice, you hear the isolated "ping!" of a shame-faced and ambushed sharp-shooter, whose opposition to the bonds will not stand the light of day.

That single fact indicates more unanswerably than any other factor the overwhelming nature of sentiment for the bonds.

MONTHS AGO MEN AND WOMEN WHO HAVE THE BEST INTERESTS OF ATLANTA AT HEART KNEW THAT TO OPPOSE THE BOND ISSUE WAS TO FIGHT UPON THE SIDE OF DISEASE AND DEATH, TO FIGHT AGAINST ATLANTA INSTEAD OF FOR ATLANTA, TO AIM A DEADLY AND DELIBERATE BLOW AT THE LIVES OF THOUSANDS OF MEN AND WOMEN AND CHILDREN TODAY, AND MULTIPLIED THOUSANDS TOMORROW.

Universal recognition of this fact has downed partisanship as regards the bond issue. It has smashed the bogie of political cliques over the head with the club of logic and of self-preservation and of that mutual obligation to contend together for the defeat of the deadliest enemies of human progress and the city's welfare.

As in every large and small community, however, there are a corporal's guard of Ishmaelites, of croakers and of "soreheads," willing to place the lives of men and women, including those of their friends, and the future of the city in the balance, if they may serve some selfish end.

It is a lasting tribute to the aggressive sanity of the "Atlanta Spirit" that it has not been influenced or deceived, and that overwhelming community sentiment looks with pity and suspicion upon those infrequent few who whisper where they dare not speak openly.

As a unit, the press of the city has opened its columns to legitimate criticisms against the bond issue. None have been forthcoming. The fact that opposition has resolved itself into a few furtive and illogical snarls, foreshadows the sweeping triumph of the bonds.

AT THE TOP, AS USUAL.

With $5,551,951 expended for new buildings in 1909, Atlanta, as usual, heads the list of leading southern cities.

New Orleans is close, but second, while Memphis, Richmond, Dallas and Fort Worth come along in that order, with Birmingham seventh and Chattanooga eighth.

Here are some new figures upon which The Birmingham News might exercise its analytical ingenuity; and then there are others.

The Constitution has shown how Atlanta leads southern cities in post-office receipts, in bank clearings, in bank deposits, in manufactures, in volume of trade and, in fact, everything that goes to tell the story of business growth and greatness.

Every now and then some one compiles the figures relating to this or that branch of industry or business in the cities of the south, and when it is done the result is always the same.

ATLANTA STANDS AT THE TOP OF THE LIST!

No matter what direction the investigation takes, no matter how deeply and carefully others may search for some indication of precedence, there is only one answer to the problem of southern leadership—

ATLANTA!

EASTERN TIME AND WORKING CLASSES.

That general benefit will accrue to practically all Atlantans through the proposed change from Central to Eastern standard time is a proposition upon which those who have given the matter thought are agreed.

What it would mean, specifically, to Atlanta's numerous working classes was clearly pointed out in the card of Colonel Harry L. Schlesinger, recently published in The Constitution.

To Atlanta's hundreds of working girls it would mean a daylight walk home at the close of business hours through almost the entire winter, when darkness falls so quickly.

To the city's thousands of working men and women it would mean, throughout the long and enervating summer, two and a half hours of daylight each day for recreation, a trip to the parks or other wholesome and much-needed indulgence in open-air pursuits.

Penned, as many of them are, in more or less badly ventilated buildings from the morning hour until after dark, or until darkness is so close at hand as to afford little or no opportunity for out-of-door exercise, it is little wonder that strength frequently gives way under the strain, and they become easy victims to sickness and disease.

The change to Eastern time, adding an hour to the opportunity for daylight recreation, would thus materially improve health conditions.

Out-door exercise, out-door living is the great specific for bodily ills.

How many there are who ignore or neglect it because of lack of opportunity!

But with opportunity will come habit, and with the habit better health, and with better health greater and more substantial results to employer as well as advantage to the individual.

Better health is a community asset; it means greater production of wealth.

All this and more may be achieved by the simple setting forward sixty minutes of the hands of the clock, and leaving working hours as they stand at present.

It may be brought about without interference with any single business arrangement.

"THEY" MEANS YOU—AND THE BONDS!

Read the following verses from Life under the caption, "They," and ponder for a moment upon their meaning and application:

Why don't they keep the streets a little cleaner?
You ask with deep annoyance not undue.
Why don't they keep the parks a little greener?
(Did you ever stop to think that THEY means YOU?)
How long will they permit this graft and stealing?
Why don't they see the courts are clean and true?
Why will they wink at crooked public dealing?
(Did you ever stop to think that THEY means YOU?)

That is putting the situation rather forcibly, isn't it?

Perhaps some of these questions have occurred to YOU:

Why don't THEY provide sewers for the thousands of Atlanta homes that are without them?

Why don't THEY put in enough water pipes to supply city water to all tax-payers and residents?

Why don't THEY take steps to get rid of the city sewage, so that it will cease to contaminate outlying streams, rendering the suburban and some of the city sections practically uninhabitable?

Why don't THEY build enough schools, or make those they have large enough, to accommodate all the children who are knocking at their doors and clamoring for an education?

Why don't THEY enlarge Grady Hospital so as to enable it to accommodate all of the cases of suffering humanity in need of medical and surgical attention?

Why don't THEY do this and that other thing which Atlanta, as the leading city of the south, should do to maintain her foremost standing and prestige?

Getting down to Atlanta's proposed bond issue, which is the real and material answer to these queries,—

"Did you ever stop to think that THEY means YOU?"

For, at last, it is YOU who must make it possible for "THEY" to do the things which YOU see and feel are essential, if the Atlanta of tomorrow is to hold the prestige and standing of the Atlanta of today.

It is YOU who put "THEY" in power and authority; it is YOU who tie or unloose THEIR hands.

It is YOU who have the power and opportunity to make it possible for "THEY" to do the things which Atlanta must do or fall behind!

The Real Thing in Breakfast.

Of a "southern breakfast—"the real thing"—The Washington Post says, in the concluding paragraph to a juicy article:

"Bake a hoecake on the griddle heated by the live coals. Have some strong black coffee. Prepare a toast of 'salt-rising' light bread, over which is poured hot cream in which a liberal chunk of sweet and nutty butter is melted, boil some eggs laid by decent hens the day before, put this food on the table, take a big dram of old bourbon whisky, or, better, pure old apple brandy; thank God for his goodness, open your vest, sit down, and fall to, a crisp January morning. That is breakfast."

When the above was read aloud—within hearing of Brother Dickey, he threw up his hands and exclaimed: "Go 'way, man—go way! It make me think er good ol' times fo' Freedom broke out. My, my!" And as he limped into the elevator, they heard him smacking his mouth three flights down!

WHY NOT MELON FOR PUBLIC, SUGGESTS CORRESPONDENT

Commenting upon the Atlanta and West Point railroad as a "melon cutter," a correspondent, whose card is published herewith, mentions several previous instances in which handsome dividends were paid to the stockholders, stating, among other things, that the very debentures to take up which it is now proposed to sell stock worth 160, or more, at par, were distributed to the stockholders in 1881 as a 100 per cent dividend.

In view of this and other handsome dividends to the stockholders, he suggests it would not be a bad idea for the road to give the public a little "melon cutting" in the shape of a double track and other needed improvements, inasmuch as its franchises and its prosperity have come to it from the public.

The Constitution endeavored to see President C. A. Wickersham yesterday with reference to the statements of fact made in this communication, but was informed he was out of the city, on the line of the road, and would not return until Thursday.

Inasmuch as the matter of this stock issue is to come before the railroad commission for action shortly, it is well to have all the light possible on the subject.

The card is as follows:

Editor Constitution: I see the Atlanta and West Point railroad has applied to the railroad commission of Georgia for permission to double its capital stock. If this is allowed, they will then sell it to the present holders at 100, and call in the debentures, retiring and paying off these debentures with the proceeds, thereby cutting a melon for the present stockholders and getting rid of the taxes on the debentures.

This will be a fine scheme if it goes through. Right here it might not be amiss to remind the railroad commission of the fact that in August, 1881, this railroad cut a monster melon by issuing these same debentures and giving them to its stockholders as a script dividend of 100 per cent—an absolute gift.

Again, about five years or more ago, it cut another melon by declaring an extra dividend of 25 per cent and paying the same to its stockholders, not to mention all the yearly dividends of 6, 7 and 8 per cent paid regularly.

One would suppose that this would satisfy the stockholders until they could double track the road, a vital and imperative necessity; but not so. The three corporations which now own and control 10,000 out of the 12,000 shares, for reasons best known to their officials, prefer to cut another melon of about 40 to 60 per cent before this much-needed improvement is made.

The writer, a small stockholder, can't agree with them, but thinks the double track should be laid before any more melons are cut.

It is for the best interests of this road, for its stockholders and for the public that this should be done, and that right away. It can be done, and easily done by taking the annual net earnings of this property and putting them into the improvement. It could be quickly done by placing a 4½ per cent bond on this road, a bond that would readily sell at par, retire the debentures with this bond and save 1½ per cent in interest charges, or $18,483 per annum. This amount added to yearly net or surplus income, now amounting to $215,297.88, would soon enable it to lay this double track, an improvement very much desired at this time.

It might also be well at this time to note the fact that this is not a private corporation, but is a public one. Its charter was granted by the people; it owes its very existence to the people; it should occasionally cut a melon and invite the people to partake and participate.

Such a melon would be this double track and other needed improvements.

"Turn about is fair play," gentlemen.

Give the patrons and the public a melon this time.

JEREMIAH SHARP.

Letters From People

Joy-Rides for Bond Voters.

Editor Constitution: The more we hear about the bond issue now being discussed, the more thoroughly convinced we are of the importance of such a municipal move.

Atlanta is growing faster in area and population than her tax receipts will provide adequate public improvements, such as sewers, schools, water, street pavements, lights, etc.

When the limits were recently extended it was held out to the suburban population as an inducement to come into the city that these urgent necessities would be provided, therefore the city is in honor bound to keep her promise and deliver the goods. To do so every man and woman owes it to themselves to work and vote for the bonds until election day.

What that day rolls around we will, if desired, furnish one or two automobiles to aid or induce voters to cast their ballots February 15 "for bonds," thereby fulfilling the public pledge for the good of "Greater Atlanta."

Yours very truly,

E. D. CRANE & CO.

Cotton Seed Oil.

Editor Constitution: While the high prices of meat products are being discussed, would it not be a good idea to editorially call the attention of the people to that most excellent product, "refined cotton seed oil?" It is sold at about 10c per pound and much better than lard and lard compounds. A great many people do not know its virtues. I call your attention to this at this time, because it seems now would be a good time to boost a purely southern product.

I have no interest in any mill or oil, but I do know that this cheap product is better for cooking purposes than the best lard. I hope you will give it the attention it deserves.

Advantages of Eastern Time.

Editor Constitution: I wish to commend your efforts to secure the adoption of eastern time for the city of Atlanta.

If you are successful, thousands of people will be pleased and benefited by the change and no hardship will be imposed on any one. Having lived in Savannah, which uses eastern time, I am prepared to testify to the merits of the proposition.

It will place the railroads at a slight disadvantage in displaying their schedules, as it will be necessary to show arrivals of trains at Atlanta in both eastern and central time, where the road operates under central time outside of Atlanta, but I am sure, however, that the railroads will be glad to do this, under the circumstances.

WILL GO AFTER DELAYED TRAINS

First Reports to Be Made to Commission Tomorrow.

Under the orders of the state railroad commision, all the railroads in the state will begin tomorrow making to that body reports of their late trains.

These reports, to be made every Thursday, must show every late train, how far it was off schedule and what connections it missed at function points, up to midnight of the Saturday night preceding.

The commission is also investigating a number of individual complaints of delayed trains, certain trains which are notoriously off schedule, missing their connections 50 per cent of the time, or oftener.

Chairman H. W. Hill says it is the purpose of the commission to go to the bottom of this trouble and see what it can do toward affording remedy to the public, wherever it is apparent that remedy is needed.

The commission has taken a determined hold on the matter, and these reports of late trains will undoubtedly be closely scrutinized and the causes of the frequent delays looked into.

Statesboro, Ga., February 1.—(Special.)—Rev. Rupert Smith, representing Emory College, preached at the Methodist church here yesterday to a large congregation at the morning service. Macon, Ga., February 1.—(Special.)—When the Macon bond commission went out of existence last night there were only $,200 of the outstanding "fixes" held against the city. ASSISTANT PASTOR HAM COMES TO TABERNACLE

Rev. J. W. Ham, the newly selected assistant pastor of the Tabernacle Baptist church, arrived yesterday morning from Newbern, N. C., and immediately assumed the duties of his new office. Mr. Ham is a young man of attainment and energy, and is sure to prove a live wire in Atlanta.

Though for the past two years Mr. Ham has been pastor of the Tabernacle Baptist church in Newbern, he is a native of Jackson, Ga., and has been in the ministry six years. He took his theological course at the University of Chicago, and is a disciple of Professor Hugo Muensterberg, the celebrated Harvard psychologist. Mrs. Ham will join her husband in a few weeks. She is a graduate of Elizabeth college of Charlotte, N. C., and is a soprano soloist of marked ability. Until the arrival of Mrs. Ham, Mr. Ham will be located at the Tabernacle dormitory.

Mr. Ham will make his first public appearance Friday night, when he will begin a two years' course on psychology as it relates to the work of the Sunday school teacher. The lecture will be thirty minutes in length and will be followed by a thirty minutes' exposition of the Sunday school lesson for the following Sunday. Dr. Len G. Broughton will close the evening with one of his popular Friday night Bible lectures. All Sunday school teachers and workers desiring to become teachers are invited to attend these services, regardless of denominational allegiance. Supper will be served for those who do not have the time to go home from their work before the service.

Mr. Ham drew packed houses during his pastorate in Newbern and 70 per cent of his hearers were men.

We are the exclusive agents in this territory for the celebrated watches made by the Patek-Philippe & Co. We sell the Howard, Touchon, Agassiz, Elgin and Waltham makes. Our prices on these watches are very reasonable, being the lowest at which the manufacturers will permit them to be sold.

TO DEMONSTRATE FARM PRODUCTS

A., B. & A. Will Establish Farm.

Byromville Is to Be the Site of Farm---Will Be for the Purpose of Testing the Quality of the Soil of the Wire Grass Section.

The Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic Railroad has established a demonstrating farm on the line of its road to prove the productiveness of the soil in the wiregrass section of south Georgia. The farm selected is one of the famous scientific farms of the Byrom Corporation, at Byromville, Dooly county.

This farm was selected with a view of testing the quality of the soil in a county as nearly typical of the section as it is possible to select, but in order to get a perfectly accurate demonstration of the entire wiregrass country plans are on foot to establish later several of these demonstrating farms at various points throughout south Georgia. Diversified crops, including grains, cotton, vegetables and trucking, will be planted, beginning the coming season, at Byromville, and the results will be published in circular form and widely distributed by the passenger department of the road under General Passenger Agent W. H. Leahy to all points of the United States. Experiments will also be conducted in stock raising. Mr. Leahy has opened communication with the government authorities in the agricultural department at Washington in order to combine all the efforts possible in bringing the productiveness of the wiregrass to its full capacity.

Facts to Be Given Out.

As soon as the experimental farm is under way anyone who wishes definite facts and figures on what the wiregrass soil will do under proper cultivation will have merely to apply to the railroad offices or visit the farm and see in person the results of the experiments.

The railroad authorities were moved to the establishment of this demonstrating farm through the growing demands for accurate information concerning the section mentioned. Last year the passenger department began a systematic campaign for the purpose of bringing the advantages of the wiregrass country to the attention of the people in other parts of the country, and the result is that now a strong interest in the farming possibilities of south Georgia has been awakened, particularly in the west and northwest. Requests for information, at the rate of about fifty per day, are flowing in from all sections of the nation, and over 150 new families have already moved into the territory advertised.

The railroad has already sent out a general circular to inquirers containing the results obtained by the Byromville Corporation as a whole, and by one of its individual tenants, from last year's farming, and the purpose of the railroad's cooperating with the Byroms under the demonstrating farm plan is to secure still more information for this year, and even better results than have yet been obtained.

Farm Data Given.

In the circular sent out heretofore it has been shown that a colored tenant last season, on the "forty acres and a mule" plan, made a profit of $845.84, besides his living expenses.

The following figures are furnished by the Byrom Corporation, of Byromville, Ga. This statement is given in full, just as furnished by the firm:

"One-horse farm operated by the Byrom Corporation, 5 miles east of Byromville, Ga., in 1909, Sam Byrom (colored) as tenant. This farm was operated by what we term the cropper plan, that is, the owners pay the taxes, feed the mule and furnish half of the fertilizers, dividing the cotton, corn and fodder half and half with him. The owners retain all the cotton seed, the tenant getting all the peas, potatoes, cane, hogs and cows that he raised on the farm.

Receipts.

13 bales cotton, weighing 6,938 pounds	$749.08
452 bushels cotton seed	131.08
166 bushels corn	124.50
Hay	12.14
Peas	5.00
Mule hire	1.05
Total receipts	$1,023.75

Disbursements.

Taxes	$ 11.50
Mule feed	110.18
Fertilizers	52.98
Miscellaneous	3.25
Total disbursements	$ 177.91
Profit to balance statement	845.84
Total	$1,023.75

"Of the total cash profit, the tenant received $402.98, as half the value of the cotton, corn and hay accrued to the owner of the farm for rent, besides he received all the cane, potatoes, vegetables, and, by the least exertion could have raised all of his meat, chickens, eggs, butter and milk. He occupied a house, had plenty of good wood to burn, plenty of good water, the last three of which were all furnished free."

This demonstrates the possibilities of a one-horse farm in south Georgia.

AUBURN AVENUE PROPERTY SOLD

T. A. Perry Pays $60,000 for Lot—Sells Decatur Lot.

Through R. A. Thompson, of the sales department of B. M. Grant & Co., T. A. Perry, of Decatur, on yesterday purchased from McDaniel, Alston & Black, Austell Thornton and C. H. Black the building and lot on Auburn avenue between North Pryor and Ivy streets, for which he paid $60,000. The owners of the property were represented by C. H. Black, of the well-known real estate firm.

The lot in question is directly opposite the Atlanta Athletic Club and has a frontage of 47 feet on Auburn avenue, running back a depth of 100 feet. It is occupied by a newly-constructed brick and stone three-story building with a basement. The first floor space is occupied with automobile accessory stores and the upstairs floors are divided into bachelor apartments with baths.

Auburn avenue is developing rapidly, especially between these streets named. C. H. Black is erecting a $40,000 building on the lot across the street and almost opposite.

Another sale recorded by this well-known real estate firm during the day was that of the former home of Colonel Albert H. Cox, in Decatur, by its owner, Thomas A. Perry, of Decatur, to Eugene and Charles H. Black and Austell Thornton, of Atlanta, for $15,000. This house and lot sold about five years ago for $9,000. It is centrally located and one of the most desirable in the city.

C. W. SANTEE RESIGNS TO ACCEPT NEW PLACE

From Chattanonoga Medicine Co. He Goes to Nelson Chesman & Co.

C. W. Santee has resigned his position as manager of the newspaper advertising department of the Chattanooga Medicine Co., to become office manager of the Nelson Chesman & Co. Advertising Agency, of this city.

The position which Mr. Santee assumes with the agency is a new one, brought about through the growth of the business of this concern, making it necessary that Herbert Durand, the manager for Nelson Chesman & Co., be given the assistance of a man of Mr. Santee's experience.

At the present time the Chattanooga office of the Nelson Chesman & Co. agency is handling nearly 100 accounts, varying in amounts from $500 to $250,000 each. The volume of business handled by the St. Louis, Chicago, New York and Chattanooga offices combined, amounted to several million dollars. Very few people are acquainted with the advertising which goes out from Chattanooga each year through Nelson Chesman & Co., who have clients in nearly every city in the south.

Mr. Santee's long association with the Chattanooga Medicine Co. as manager of the newspaper advertising department, has rendered him well qualified to take up the work which he has assumed. He is considered one of the highest authorities in the United States on all matters pertaining to newspaper circulation, rates, etc. This knowledge has been attained through a long and careful study of the newspapers of every state from Maine to California. In addition to the services of Mr. Santee, the office force of Nelson Chesman & Co. has been otherwise enlarged in order to take care of the increased volume of business which will be placed by them during the present year. In fact, the best evidence as to the prosperity of the South is shown in the increased volume of advertising which general advertisers have planned to place through Nelson Chesman & Co. in newspapers, magazines and other mediums during the year 1910.

FINANCE COMMITTEE HOLDS A SESSION

Banks Will Be Asked to Loan $400,000 to the City.

At a meeting yesterday afternoon the finance committee of council acted upon the following matters:

Four city banks, the Lowry National, the Fourth National, the Atlanta National and the American National, offered to lend the city $200,000 at 4 per cent and pay 2 per cent on money on deposit. The committee decided to ask the banks to agree to lend the city $400,000 at the same rate.

The city clerk was authorized to employ additional help for the next 90 days at $90 a month.

The ordinance creating the office of auditor at a salary of $2,400 a year was taken up and referred to the ordinance committee for perfection. The new officer is to be nominated by the finance committee and approved by council.

Chief Jentzen, of the sanitary department, appeared before the committee and on his request the committee divided up the extra appropriation of $30,000 and allowed him to use $10,000 of it to purchase 40 more mules.

Several other matters of minor importance were acted upon.

ROY HOME SOLD FOR GOOD PRICE

Names of Purchasers Unknown---Price $25,000.

Another Sale of the Day Was an Apartment House on Peachtree Street Which Brought $32,000---The Purchaser Was Edgar Dunlap.

Two important real estate deals, involving two well-known Peachtree street homes, were made yesterday through the well-known real estate firm of Forrest & George Adair, aggregating $58,000.

The first of these was the sale by Dr. Dunbar Roy of his former home on the west side of Peachtree street, between Porter Place and Alexander street, to out-of-town parties, whose names are not given out, for $25,000. This lot is known as 374 Peachtree street. It has a frontage of 75 feet on Peachtree street and runs back 200 feet to Alexander street, and has a big frontage on that well-known street. The lot is, at present, occupied by the former home of Dr. and Mrs. Roy.

The other Peachtree property sale was closer in town, and brought $32,000.

This was the double apartment house at 309 Peachtree, located on the east side of Peachtree street, between Baker and Ivy streets. This property was sold by J. J. & J. W. Mangham, of Griffin, to Edgar Dunlap, of Atlanta. This lot has a frontage of 63 feet on Peachtree street, and runs through 190 feet to Ivy street. Both purchases, it is understood, were made for investments.

Next to central property it would seem that the enhancement in the value of Peachtree street property is greater and more rapid than the other section of the city. It is for this reason the real estate records show so many trades in this very valuable frontage.

ONE CONSTITUTION "AD" SWAMPS BRANNEN'S STORE

Yesterday Well-Known Drug Man Used Fifth of Page in Constitution and Was So Inundated With Customers That He Contemplated Barricading His Doors.

If you don't believe it pays to advertise, even one time, ask Tom Brannen, proprietor of Brannen's drug store, president of the "Ad Men's Club," agent for the "Rexall" remedies and a few other things.

That is, provided the "ad" appears in The Constitution.

Upon that fact, Mr. Brannen is eloquent, and as a certain other advertiser is always claiming, "there's a reason."

"This morning," said Mr. Brannen, when he got a breathing spell from the avalanche of customers, "I used in the neighborhood of a fifth of a page in The Constitution, offering various bargains in the drug-sundries line.

At the Mercy of Buyers.

"Did buyers come?" Well, I guess yes!

"When I reached the store, after breakfast, they were packed thick round the doors like salmon trying to get through a fish trap in the Columbia river.

"Inside, they were swirling round in little eddies, demanding an opportunity to buy and carry away the articles they had seen advertised in The Constitution.

Clerks Up a Tree.

"Why, that crowd kept coming and coming, until they almost had my trained clerks up a tree.

"Several times it was necessary to barricade the doors, so that those inside could be served and then give place to others just as anxious to get on the band-wagon.

"The thing kept up all day, the tide barely decreasing as night came on.

Most Phenomenal He Ever Saw.

"It's about the most phenomenal return I ever saw from just one advertisement, though I will admit it's exactly in line with what The Constitution is always doing as a 'puller.'

"But, seriously—if the thing happens much oftener, we'll have to rent the building clear through to Pryor street."

SOCIETY

To Miss May Atkinson.

A beautiful party was that at which Mrs. William C. Rawson and Miss Elizabeth Rawson entertained last evening in honor of Miss May Atkinson, in whose honor there have been many parties since her debut in December. Miss Atkinson and Miss Rawson were schoolmates and the occasion last night was the assembling of the young society set of which both young ladies are acknowledged belles.

Mrs. Rawson and Miss Rawson and Miss Atkinson received in the drawing room. Supper was served in the hall library and dining room, and afterwards dancing was enjoyed.

It was most appropriate that the flowers used to decorate were pink roses, the flower which so well typifies the debutante. There were palms in the hallway and potted narcissi. In all the other rooms pink roses were lavishly used, these filling bowls and vases between banks of fern.

In the dining room the table from which the sweets were served had a plateau of roses as centerpiece. From the center there arose a tall silver vase filled with roses. Around the center were silver candlesticks, their lights softened by pink shades under silver filigree. Silver baskets held pink cakes and bonbons, and the ices were in pink.

Mrs. Rawson was handsomely gowned in black chiffon cloth embroidered, the corsage trimmed in lace.

Miss Rawson was lovely in ciel blue chiffon cloth. Miss Atkinson wore a becoming toilet in pink messaline.

Among the charming visitors was Miss Millen, the guest of Miss Julie Richardson. She was beautifully gowned in white silk and lace.

To Miss Nunnally.

Assisting in entertainment at the 5 o'clock tea to be given Saturday by Mrs. Alex W. Smith and Mrs. W. W. Gray, in compliment to Miss Frances Nunnally, will be:

Mrs. J. H. Nunnally, Mrs. A. L. Mills, Mrs. J. K. Orr, Mrs. Edw. Brown, Mrs. Victor L. Smith, Mrs. Alexander King, Mrs. Clark Howell, Jr., Mrs. J. K. Ottley, Mrs. W. L. Cosgrove, Mrs. Joseph Orme, Mrs. Junius Oglesby, Jr., Miss Sallie Brown, Misses Eliza Dancy, May Atkinson, Suzanne Spalding, Frances Connally, Elizabeth Rawson, Julie Richardson, Harriet Orr, Miss Scott of Philadelphia, Miss Barksdale of Wilmington, Del.

Bridge Series.

Mrs. Charles A. Smith entertained at bridge yesterday morning and again in the afternoon, for each occasion having invited twenty-five ladies to meet her sister, Mrs. Harry Smith, Jr., of Franklin, La.

The house was attractively decorated with ferns and baskets of crimson carnations, and delicious refreshments were served after the game.

The prizes for both parties were silk stockings and cut glass bonbon dishes, and the guest of honor was presented white and gold plates.

Mrs. Smith wore a black and white silk gown with a trimming in Irish lace.

Dinner Party.

Mr. and Mrs. Woods White entertained at an elegant dinner last night in honor of Mr. and Mrs. William Kreigshaber, the party numbering twelve. The table had an artistic decoration in Wellesley roses and narcissi, these filling a basket in the center of the table On the handle were garlands of asparagus caught with clusters of narcissi. On the table there was a tracery of asparagus fern, with here and there clusters of roses and sprays of the narcissi. The silver candlesticks had their shades of pink under silver filigree, and the bonbons, cakes and ices were in pink.

Mrs. White's becoming toilet was of white chiffon cloth over satin, the corsage veiled in lace. Mrs. William Kreigshaber wore a pale blue chiffon cloth and Mrs. Victor Kreigshaber's gown was of yellow net embroidered in gold.

Basketball Dance.

The announcement of each basketball game at the Atlanta Athletic Club, carrying, as it does, the accompanying announcement of a dance, is met with a widespread enthusiasm, and the basketball dance on Friday night will be no exception.

The team from Auburn, which is one of the best in the south, will play the club team, and the fact that there are many friends in Atlanta of the Alabama college will increase interest in the game.

Afterwards, when the orchestra assumes its place, it is expected that there will be the usual bright gathering for the dance.

Bridge Tea.

The bridge tea given yesterday by Mrs. D. H. Lopez was an elaborate and enjoyable affair, and thirty-two guests were present.

The reception rooms were attractively decorated with foliage plants and with red carnations and roses, the score cards were red hearts, and the first prize was a heart-shaped satin box of candy. It was won by Mrs. W. E. Foster, and the consolation, a bridge set, was cut by Mrs. Virgil Shepard.

Delicious refreshments were served from the dining room, where the table centerpiece was a crystal basket of red roses and carnations, and the heart-shaped candies, cakes and ices carried out the Valentine idea. The silver candlesticks on table and buffet had red silk shades.

Mrs. Lopez was gowned in black lace, and she was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. C. L. Pettegrew and Mrs. James Morrow, Jr.

To Miss Akin.

Miss Claire Ridley's bridge party yesterday afternoon was a delightful affair of forty guests, and Miss Lillian Akin, one of the most charming members of the younger set, was guest of honor.

Mrs. L. M. Nuttman and Miss Eloise Oliver won the prizes, a bar pin and a book, and Miss Akin was presented silk stockings.

The reception rooms had an attractive decoration in ferns and white hyacinths, and a dainty luncheon was served after the game.

Miss Ridley was becomingly gowned in champagne-colored chiffon cloth over white satin, with an embroidery in gold. Mrs. Ridley wore lavender marquisette and lace.

To Miss Hurd.

Mrs. W. M. Scott entertained at tea Monday afternoon in honor of Miss Marjorie Hurd, the guest of Miss Ellinor Behre. A congenial party of young people were assembled, and the occasion was a most enjoyable one.

Miss Manning Entertains.

One of the prettiest affairs of last week was the party given by Miss Madge Manning at her home in the Dodd apartment, in honor of the "Boclat" Club. The rooms were decorated for the occasion in ferns and palms, with quantities of blooming narcissi. After a most delightful musical program was given, dainty refreshments were served, the color scheme of red and green being most artistically carried out. Miss Manning is a charming young hostess, and was assisted in entertaining by her mother and Miss Ethel Adams. About thirty young people were entertained.

To Miss Moulton.

Mr. Mitchell King will entertain a party of twelve at dinner Thursday evening at the Piedmont Driving Club in compliment to Miss Moulton, of Birmingham, who arrives Thursday, and will be an attractive visitor also at the cotillion Friday night. The party will be chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. Lee Lewman.

Bridge Luncheon.

Mrs. L. M. Nuttman's bridge luncheon yesterday was a delightful affair of sixteen guests, invited to meet her attractive guest, Mrs. Bessie Bancroft Russell, of Montclair, N. J.

Mrs Nuttman's apartment had an effective decoration in ferns, narcissus, and white hyacinths, and white and green were the colors in pretty details.

The prizes were of silver, one for each table, and they were won by Mrs. Walter Stearns, Miss M. A. Phelan, Miss Arlene Scully and Mrs. G. G Bailey.

Mrs. Nuttman wore a becoming gown of green meteor crepe, embroidered in green, and Mrs. Russell wore white marquisette, embroidered.

Young Ladies' Restaurant.

Arrangements have been made to serve hot lunches today at 15 East Alabama street, and even a more elaborate menu than the one offered yesterday has been prepared by the young ladies' committee of the Sacred Heart church, who are in charge. A group of married ladies are their able assistants, and the splendid service afforded yesterday will be repeated today.

Hot meats, vegetables and rolls, delicious salads, desserts and good coffee, will be served from 12 until 3 o'clock, and the equipment is adequate to a large patronage.

Theater Dinner.

Mr. Hunter Muse will entertain at dinner Friday evening, followed by a theater party at the Grand, his guests to include Miss Claire Ridley, Miss Katherine Gordon, Mr. Jack Prince, Mr. Crowe and Mr. Swords, of New York.

Her collection of curios from all parts of the world will form a unique interest on that occasion. They will be labeled and catalogued, and the committee invite all their friends to enjoy the exhibit.

Tea and sandwiches will be served, and a small admission will be charged.

To Miss Word.

Miss Emma Scott was hostess yesterday at a pretty afternoon tea in compliment to Miss Mary Beth Word, of Hogansville, whose marriage to Mr. Trammell Scott, of Atlanta, will take place this month.

Fisk and Robinson of New York Go Under.

Firm Is a Member of Stock Exchange and Has Branches in Chicago and Boston---Shrinkage in Value of Railway Bonds the Cause.

New York, February 1.—Fisk & Robinson, bond dealers and members of the New York stock exchange, failed for a million dollars today. An involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed by creditors in the United States district court late this afternoon, and Brinson Winthrop was appointed receiver with a bond of $10,000. Shrinkage in the value of railroad bonds held by the firm caused the failure.

Largest Failure Since Panic.

The failure is one of the largest since the panic of 1907, not so much as liabilities are concerned, but in view of the importance of the firm, which has branches in Chicago, Boston and Worcester, Mass. The offices are at 35 Cedar street.

The firm was founded in 1899. The business of the firm was principally banking business and the floating of bonds. The petition in bankruptcy was filed with the full consent of the firm, its members having concluded that this was the only way to avoid further losses for itself and its creditors.

A statement issued by the receiver tonight says the firm's secured obligations will amount to approximately $5,000,000, and the unsecured debts to more than $1,000,000.

Cause of Failure.

"The cause of the failure," says the statement, "is attributed by the members of the firm to the shrinkage in market value of the 4½ per cent bonds of the Buffalo and Susquehanna Railway Company, and the preferred stock of the Buffalo and Susquehanna Railroad Company, of which the firm was carrying a large amount. These securities were all in loans, and as the market value diminished the lenders holding these securities as collateral have from time to time required additional collateral.

"There are other securities owned by the firm which have not yet a general market, and could not be realized on in time to meet the demands of the unsecured creditors."

Little Surprise.

Little surprise was manifested at the failure in banking circles, where it was said that the firm had received several extensions of credit during the past year. Among the roads whose bond issues the firm endeavored to float, were the Louisiana and Arkansas railway, San Antonio and Aransas Pass and Gulf and Ship Island. These issues have had no very satisfactory market, and added to the drain on the firm's resources.

WILLARD WEBB SEEKS A STAY OF EXECUTION

Effort to Prove Alibi for Man Sentenced to Be Hanged.

Willard Webb, the negro convicted of rape in Cobb county, and sentenced to be hanged next Friday, has appealed to Governor Brown for a respite of two weeks in order that he may have opportunity to make a showing in the shape of an alibi.

Request for the respite was presented to the governor by Attorney Blair, of Marietta, who points out that two well-known white ladies make the statement that they saw and recognized Willard Webb at a point 7½ miles away from where the crime is alleged to have been committed, within half an hour of the time it took place. He thinks it possible he may get satisfactory evidence showing that Webb's conviction was the result of a case of mistaken identity.

Webb was convicted of criminal assault upon Mrs. Exa Brown, of Cobb county. Governor Brown took the papers in the case home with him to give the evidence careful consideration before granting the respite, as requested.

Pope Receives Arthur Hardy.

Rome, February 1.—The pope today received in private audience Arthur S. Hardy, former American minister to Spain. Mr. Hardy was accompanied by his wife.

THE REAL FACTS ABOUT MRS. FINCHER

As Told by Herself in a Letter Lately Received, Giving Full Particulars About Her Case.

Peavy, Ala.—"I had been troubled a little for about 7 years," writes Mrs. Ludie Fincher, of this place, "but was not taken down until March, 1907, when I went to bed and had to have the doctor.

"He did all he could for me, but I got no better. I hurt all over, even to my arms, so badly I could not rest. I had pains in my sides, back, bowels, shoulders and chest. I can't tell how I did suffer.

"At last I began to take Cardui, and I hadn't taken but half a bottle until I began to improve.

"I continued to take it, until I had taken four bottles, and now I am in very good health and able to do all my housework."

You may wonder why this medicine is so successful in curing sick women, after other medicines have failed. The answer is not far to seek.

Cardui is successful, because it is composed of ingredients that act specifically on the womanly constitution. It is not a cure-all. It is a medicine for women, and only for women.

Its success is due to its merit.

Try it.

JUDGE WILLIAM NEWMAN.
He Says State Courts Can Stop Illegal Distillation.

JUDGE NEWMAN ON STEGALL CASE

Declares State Courts Can Break Up Illicit Distillation.

In his decision in the Stegall case, Judge Newman took the position that if illicit distillation was going on at the Cureton distillery, it could be broken up by action of the state courts with which there could and would be no interference by the federal courts, and it is significant that following Judge Newman's decision Judge Fite has taken action accordingly.

That part of Judge Newman's decision is as follows:

"It is unfortunate that the present condition exists. The state absolutely prohibits within its limits the manufacture of distilled spirits, while the United States government makes no objection to its manufacture, so long as the taxes required by law are paid. I would be glad to see some way, under the present statutes, the rules and regulations of the treasury department and the decisions of the courts, by which Stegall could be required to answer the questions propounded to him by the state court, because courts of the United States should incline toward agreement with the courts of the states, and will do so as far as possible. In this view I have endeavored to see the matter in the way it was so ably presented by the attorney general and his associates, but am unable to do so.

"Stegall was at this distillery solely and only as storekeeper and gauger, all the knowledge he has obtained while there in that capacity. If Stegall had gone to the distillery otherwise than officially—simply gone there as a visitor, and when not on official business—undoubtedly he should be required to state what he saw; otherwise I do not see how he can be required to do so.

"It was urged in argument that the United States does not and should not desire to interfere with the enforcement of the criminal laws of the state. This is true, undoubtedly. If Cureton is running this distillery, as he appears to be doing from what is gathered on this hearing, the government of the United States, under the internal revenue law, will collect the taxes due the United States, and it seems a storekeeper and gauger must be put there to ascertain and keep account of the product of the distillery. Neither the internal revenue officers nor anyone else connected with the United States government can, or will, under any law that I am aware of, interfere or place any obstacle in the way of the state, if it at any time desires to break up this distillery. The revenue officers are simply collecting the taxes due the United States government as long as the distillery is in operation. A storekeeper and gauger is not put at a distillery to protect the distillery in any way from the enforcement of the law.

"The whole question comes to this: When a distillery is being operated, a storekeeper and gauger is placed there to ascertain the quantity of distilled spirits made at the distillery, in order that the government may collect the taxes. They are there under the provisions of the statute (R. S. 3167), and the regulation of the treasury department, having the effect of law, as stated, that they shall not produce any records or testify as to the contents of records, and, further, that they shall not testify as to facts 'coming to their knowledge in their official capacity;' but the same regulation provides that information desired as to the operation of a distillery will, upon request of the court desiring such information, be furnished under the seal of the treasury department. If any change is needed, it must be made by congress or by the secretary of the treasury. The courts cannot make or change law."

STATE TO APPEAL IN STEGALL CASE

Will Ask Final Ruling From United States Supreme Court.

Attorney General John C. Hart said yesterday the state would undoubtedly take an appeal from the decision of Judge W. T. Newman, in the United States court, granting the writ of habeas corpus in the case of Charles E. Stegall, government gauger who refused to testify in Dade superior court regarding the Cureton distillery, to the supreme court of the United States.

The state was represented before Judge Newman by Attorney General Hart and Solicitor General Tom Milner. They will hold a conference shortly regarding an appeal from Judge Newman's decision, and the proper steps for carrying it up will be taken in due course.

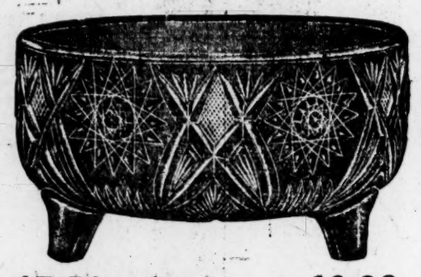

While Judge Heart was convinced that the only proper course for the state authorities was to recognize and respect the writ of habeas corpus from the United States court, he is also firm in his conviction that the national government never intended to withhold evidence as to criminal actions from the state court where proper and legal demand is made for it.

The point is regarded as an important one and the state will seek to have it decided by the highest court.

FEDERAL GAUGER UNDER ARREST

lanta were informed of conditions in Rising Fawn, and the gauger was advised to make bond, and was at the same time told that the government had nothing to do with the case, as it was wholly a state court controversy, a event with which the United States so far has no connection whatever.

Federal Official Talks.

"What will Judge Newman do about the matter?" remarked one of the federal building officials. "What can he do? We know nothing of the conditions beyond advices that the sheriff of Dade county went upon the Cureton property with a search warrant from state courts and that the gauger objected to the search, because the warehouse was on land carrying a revenue license. He may have gone a little strong on that supposition, but that is his business only.

"Yes, the officers here were advised that he, the gauger, had been arrested by the sheriff later and it was then that the federal authorities were first and for the only time heard from.

"Gauger Thompson was advised—it was personal and not official advice—to make bond and await the action of the state courts. We understand that the technical charge is resisting an officer. But we know nothing about the affair further than I have stated. The situation at the Cureton distillery regarding this last trouble is purely a state matter—a matter with which the federal government has nothing whatever to do.

"There is no national law against the making of liquor, while there are laws pertaining to the shipment and movement of it. If one applies for a revenue license the government will issue it, and that issue is valid as far as the nation goes.

Up to the State.

"The national government has nothing to do with the local police laws. If a state rules out the sale and making of whisky the national government has nothing to do with it. It's then up to the state police regulations, I might say, to see that the local laws are enforced. In no way will the national government protect anyone who is violating the home laws, neither is it incumbent upon the national government to ferret out these violations. Neither will the federal government attempt even in any way to protect the violator of a local law in any section.

"Now, this Cureton case brought to an analysis simply means that the owner of that distillery has secured from the revenue department a license to operate a distillery. If the man paying for that license wants to break local police laws, it's to him the punishment will come if any is made.

"As I said, so far The United States government knows nothing officially of the arrest of a gauger named by the collector for this district, and in the abstract it cares nothing. The national government not only will not throw any obstacles in the way of the enforcement of the local police laws, but it will aid their enforcement in any manner it can.

"No, there is little, probably no, possibility of a clash between the national and the state courts on this arrest of Thompson. Sure, Thompson is, to an extent, a ward of the nation because of his position, but that doesn't mean that the federal courts will in any way interfere until the matter is brought before them in some tangible shape."

Judge Newman, when approached, stated simply that he knew nothing of the reported arrest of the gauger apart from newspaper reading, and therefore he could not and would not discuss the situation.

History of the Trouble.

The raid assumes unusual importance because of the legal steps taken in the case within the last few months.

The trouble had its start when United States Gauger Charles Stegall, who has since been promoted, his place now being held by United States Gauger Thompson, was summoned before the grand jury of Dade county and asked to answer a number of questions concerning the Cureton distillery, where he was employed. He answered a number, but when it came to the question:

"What is manufactured there," he refused on the ground that all the information he had was gained in his official capacity as an employee of the government, and that under government rules he could not talk of the case.

Persisting in his refusal, he was brought before Judge Fite, where his answer was the same. Charged with contempt of court, he was then sent to jail. For some days it looked like serious trouble between the state and the federal courts, but finally on the advice of Attorney General Hart, Stegall was surrendered by Judge Fite to the United States court, and was given a hearing in Atlanta on habeas corpus proceedings.

A few days ago Judge Newman announced his decision in the case, which was in effect that Stegall was justified in his refusal.

The Very Newest and Smartest of Spring Neck Things Are Here

When questioned as to her "clothes creed," Margaret Anglin said, among other things:

"I believe in having good, well-cut gowns, little trimmed, but plenty of jabots and guimpes and collars and yokes so that there can be fresh clean things for the neck every day."

This is good doctrine. No matter how simple and plain the gown or suit, its attractiveness is increased a hundredfold by a dainty chemisette or a fluffy jabot or a spotless collar and perky little bow.

We've heard women say that they had to make their own neck fixings because they couldn't get pretty things ready-made unless they paid a tremendous price.

These women don't know us. They don't know what a stunning jabot or tie or collar they can get here for a quarter. They don't know that all the new things--the styles they read about and see pictures of in the fashion magazines--are here in wonderful variety and beauty. And not only these but the styles that are to appear generally a little later are in our show-cases already.

There's nothing mediocre about our Neckwear Section. It's right on the job and can furnish you the most fetching and becoming neckwear you'll find in this town. And for just a little money, too.

Maybe you're needing some new Neckwear right now. Come to us and we'll show you about every kind of Stock that's made. Plain, stiff, all-white affairs, white and colors, with ties or saucy, side-pleated bows. We'll show you Irish lace bows, some with tabs, some without. And we'll show you plain and chenille-dotted tulle bows, and noodle bows and ties and rose jabots and more novelties than you could shake a stick at.

Our Chemisettes this season are unusually pretty. They're of fine linen tuckt and lace-trimmed or embroidered, of all-over lace in lots of styles.

The Dutch collars, too, are to be very good this season. We have them in linen, lace-trimmed, and in all-over Irish and other laces.

Nurses' Collars There's one item in our Neckwear Section that we want to mention especially.

Collars for trained nurses.

We have these in three heights, all sizes. 15c each.

Children's Collars This is another specialty. We have an admirable line of Buster Brown Collars for children. They range in size from 11 1-2 upward.

We also have splendid Windsor ties in plaids and solid colors to wear with these collars.

Veils The new Veils for spring are fascinating and oh, so becoming!

The variety of patterns is very great. The thin plain mesh veil is quite as correct as the large spotted one.

Next time you want a veil, come here for it. We want to show you all these novelties and help you select the one that's becoming to you. For, little as women seem to think, there's art in being becomingly veiled.

No matter what kind of Veil you want we have it. Complexion Veils, in black and white, Lace Veils in black and white. Automobile Veils with or without adjusting button, Mourning Face-veils, trimmed with dull ribbon or bias folds of crape. Tulle and Chiffon by the yard, all colors, black and white--all these are here awaiting your inspection and selection.

Come look at them.

WITNESS ATTACKED BY MAN HE ACCUSED

Encounter Caused Excitement on Macon St.

After Being Dismissed in Recorder's Court, Joe Brewer Attacked R. A. Bolinger, Who Had Appeared as Prosecutor.

Brown House, Macon, Ga., February 1.—(Special.)—An encounter that afforded interest at recorder's court this morning occurred when Joe Brewer got on the outside after having been dismissed on investigation of a charge of selling intoxicants in violation of the tiger ordinance. R. A. Bolinger, who appeared as the prosecuting witness, had mounted his wheel and was getting away. Brewer went after him, and there was a scuffle that required immediate attention of the police.

No one was hurt, but a fight was well under way. Brewer was angered because Bolinger had accused him of selling intoxicants. The case was made by the police last night, and this morning brewer got out with a statement that the sale referred to by Bolinger consisted of ginger ale, and not whisky. Bolinger had reported it as a liquor sale, and allowed himself to be used as a prosecuting witness.

As soon as the case was dismissed both Brewer and Bolinger started to leave the court, and had gotten into the street before the encounter took place. The men were separated and allowed to go on their way.

REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS IN 9TH

Cartersville, Ga., February 1.—(Special.)—When shown a news story sent out from Rome to the effect that the republicans would likely put out a candidate for congress from the Seventh congressional district of Georgia, Hon. Walter Akerman, perhaps the most prominent republican in north Georgia, said today: "I know nothing whatever about any such plans, except that I am morally certain that nothing of the kind is on foot.

"There are at present no such plans so far as the party is concerned, but I cannot answer for the individual intentions of its members."

For several months there has been whispers of republican activities with regard to the congressional race, and it will be remembered that in the last national election ten out of the thirteen counties in this district went republican. This fact has given the G. O. P. much encouragement, and it is believed that should that party enter a man in the contest, his chances would be very good.

Mr. Akerman, who has been postmaster here for a number of years, is prominently mentioned as a probable candidate, as have been Postmaster John A. Crawford, of Dalton, and Postmaster Dyar, of Adairsville.

ATLANTA COMPANY BUYS COAL FIELDS

$250,000 Said to Be Price Paid For Tennessee Coal Property.

Knoxville, Tenn., February 1.—The R. O. Campbell Coal Company, of Atlanta, today purchased the Westbourne Coal Company's coal property at Westbourne. The consideration is understood to be approximately $250,000. The Westbourne is one of the several coal operations associated with the Southern Coal and Coke Company, though it was the smallest in production of the Southern's operations and will not amount to more than 10 per cent temporary reduction in its output. It is stated Mr. Campbell will increase the development of the Westbourne mine very materially.

Bowel Tonic For Old Folks Free

No matter how sound and healthy old people are they still suffer with their bowels. The machinery of the system doesn't work as it did when they were young and active. But while you can't restore youth you can help age to live more pleasantly.

That a laxative is needed every little while by people as they get around fifty and beyond, there is no doubt, but it is important which laxative is taken. Old people, women and all, except those who are in the prime of life, should avoid anything that gives a shock to the system and which at best is but a temporary expedient. Among these are pills and cathartic tablets, salts and purgative waters. They are too strong and only do temporary good. Not only that, but they really bind the bowels next day.

What you want is something that will regulate the bowels and again get them in the habit of performing a certain function at a certain time, while at the same time toning and strengthening the muscles of the stomach and bowels. Such a remedy is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and if you have never used it let the doctor send you a sample bottle free of charge. In this way you can try it without cost. All druggists sell it at 50 cents and one dollar a bottle, and those who have used it will continue to buy it. It is pleasant to take, very effective and very economical as a household remedy, as all the family can use it. But Dr. Caldwell is eager to have all readers unacquainted with it to send for a free sample.

Thousands of old people and heads of families are never without it, for in this way they cure and avoid constipation, liver trouble, indigestion, sour stomach, sick headache, sleepiness after eating, belching and similar stomach, liver and bowel disturbances. Mrs. Tillie Homan, 404 Wautauga street, Knoxville, Tenn., and T. H. Marshall, Nail, Okla., as well as thousands of others, attribute much of their present good health to this grand laxative tonic.

Dr. Caldwell personally will be pleased to give you any medical advice you may desire for yourself or family pertaining to the stomach, liver or bowels absolutely free of charge. Explain your case in a letter and he will reply to you in detail. For the free sample simply send your name and address on a postal card or otherwise. For either request the doctor's address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, R-515, Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

WORK IN PARKS FOR PAST MONTH

Park Commission Meets and Acts Upon Several Important Matters.

The park commission held an interesting meeting yesterday afternoon and disposed of a great deal of important business.

A special committee was appointed to secure additional funds for the memorial to L. P. Grant, who gave Grant park to the city. The city has appropriated $1,000, and this amount, it was thought, was not sufficient. Councilman Cofield, who was present, offered to be one of one hundred to give $25 each.

A committee was appointed to take charge of the annual Easter egg hunt this year. The committee is as follows:

George F. Eubanks, G. N. Hurtel and W. C. Puckett.

Superintendent Carey was authorized to visit New York and Cincinnati to secure a keeper for the zoo, and $150 was appropriated for the purpose.

The superintendent presented a sheet showing the division of the money for parks for the year, and the sheet was adopted.

The report of the superintendent showed that much work had been done in Grant park during the past month.

In referring to the Gress zoo, the superintendent said:

"In the zoo we lost during the month by death, 1 monkey, 1 black wolf and 1 gray fox. Joe Ferrarri, the animal man, who is wintering his collection at the zoo, presented us with a female hyena.

"W. A. Sorrow, the keeper of the zoo, was taken sick on January 3, and died on January 22. He was one of the most valuable men in the department, and his loss is a matter for genuine regret. I paid him his time while he was ill, but did not give his widow his check for the time from January 15 to January 31, believing that to be a matter for decision by you."

May Recognize Peary.

Washington, February 1.—That Commander Robert E. Peary may be officially recognized by congress as the discoverer of the North Pole and promoted to the rank of rear admiral of the navy, the Maine delegation last night voted to empower one of its members to introduce a resolution to that effect. Commander Peary is a resident of Maine.

Spitzer's Bond Extended.

New York, February 1.—Oliver Spitzer, former dock superintendent of the American Sugar Refining Company, convicted of conspiracy in the weighing frauds, was not able to appear in the federal court today to receive sentence and his bond was extended until February 5. Spitzer, after the trial, underwent a surgical operation.

Hardwood Men Meet.

Cincinnati, Ohio, February 1.—About 500 delegates from all sections of the country were present when the eighth annual convention of the Hardwood Manufacturers' Association of the United States was called to order here today. The convention will continue three days. Among the topics to be considered are the conservation of forests and the tariff as it affects the hardwood business. The election of officers will take place on Thursday.

Illicit Still in New Jersey.

New York, February 1.—That the moonshine industry is not confined to the mountains of the south was indicated today when Morris Drucker was arraigned before a United States commissioner in Jersey City on a charge of operating an illicit still in a stable back of his home in Bayonne, N. J., one of the suburbs of this city.

The federal officers seized 5,000 gallons of whisky.

DIRECTORS MUST PAY THEIR BILLS

Telephone Companies Cannot Furnish Them Free Service.

According to an opinion furnished to the railroad commission by Judge James K. Hines, special attorney, it is unlawful under the rules of the railroad commission for telephone companies to furnish free service to their directors.

The question was raised in the case of the Stewart Telephone Company, which connects with the Southern Bell at Covington. It seems some of the directors of the company complained loudly when presented with bills for telephone service. Under the opinion of Judge Hines they had no right to complain. They must pay up just like everybody else.

MORRIS BROWN COLLEGE MAKES NO APPEAL

A CARD TO THE PUBLIC

The recent agitation in the newspapers of this city relative to the affairs of Morris Brown college was primarily instigated by the desire on the part of the authorities of that institution to protect the public against imposition, and the issuance of this card is for the same specific purpose. The authorities of the college would regard themselves as being untrue to the people were they to take advantage of the recent fire and make a general appeal to the public for financial assistance when such is not needed. The insurance has been adjusted, and we have been awarded a reasonable sum for such portions of the buildings as were destroyed by fire or damaged by water. This is also true of the furniture and fixtures. The damage to the building was relatively light, considering its size.

I make no attempt to conceal my chagrin at the appearance of two letters in last Saturday's Constitution—one from Bishop H. M. Turner and the other from Bishop J. S. Flipper. As to the former, it suffices to say that Bishop H. M. Turner was the bishop of the A. M. E. church of Georgia from May, 1896, to May, 1908, at which time he was relieved of further episcopal service by the general conference and elected to the position of historiographer of the church. He has therefore not been the bishop of the A. M. E. church of Georgia since May, 1908, and no longer manages or directs the affairs of Morris Brown college, except as he may choose to exercise his prerogative as a member of the trustee board when that body is convened.

Bishop J. S. Flipper makes the statement that Dr. R. D. Stinson is not responsible to the bishop of the district, a statement that he doubtless would not have made but for a lack of knowledge of certain facts. The trustee board of Morris Brown college at its annual meeting last June refused to reelect Dr. Stinson, either as vice president or financial agent, thus making it incumbent on me to provide him with employment. There being no pastoral vacancy at that time, such as I would be disposed to tender Dr. Stinson, I gave him a certificate continuing him as the financial agent of the college until November 4, 1909. This certificate he graciously accepted. Therefore, instead of Dr. Stinson not being amenable even to the bishop of the district, the truth is that he is subject to no other authority. Moreover, Bishop J. S. Flipper is the bishop of Arkansas and Oklahoma, and officially has nothing whatever to do with the affairs of the A. M. E. church in Georgia; neither has he anything to do in managing and directing the affairs of Morris Brown college, except in his capacity as a trustee when that body is in session.

That part of the building in which the industrial department is located was not destroyed by fire nor damaged by water; neither was any of the fixtures or furniture thereof. There is, therefore, absolutely no need of appeal for help for that department.

I warn the public against making contributions at this time to anyone in the name of Morris Brown college, except to Dr. E. W. Lee, the president of the college, who alone has been authorized to solicit aid for such students as lost their personal effects by the late fire.

(Signed) C. S. SMITH,
Bishop of the A. M. E. Church in Georgia, Chancellor of Morris Brown College, Chairman of the Board of Trustees, Chairman of the Executive Committee. •••

AUBURN FIVE PLAYS ATLANTA ATHLETIC CLUB

Strong Collegiate Five Meets Local Basketballers on Friday Night.

The first Auburn basketball team will play the Atlanta Athletic Club five at the club's gymnasium on Friday night, and this game promises to be one of the hardest fought and closest, as well as cleanest, contested games ever played in Atlanta.

Last year the two teams played a great game. Auburn played the best defensive ball and Atlanta the best offensive ball. The final score ended 21 to 16, in favor of the local players, which shows conclusively how closely the game was contested.

This year Auburn has a great team, composed of four of last year's star team and Thomas, a player who probably knows more basketball than any of the regular Auburn men, as he has played for several years on the Birming Athletic Club team.

The Athletics realize that they have a tough nut to crack, and are acting accordingly. The men are showing more interest in their practice, and their teamwork is improving accordingly. They will be in the best shape that they have attained at any time this season.

The usual dance after the game as a compliment to the visiting players will be held.

BEST PLAYER CONTEST CLOSE

Some Interesting Essays Are Written by Contestants.

The contest on which player on a baseball team is of the most help to the team and the reasons therefor, now being run by The Constitution, is creating considerable interest and the required essays are being sent in to the Essay Editor by every mail.

For the benefit of those who may not have read the first announcement of the contest, it is this: Name the player that you consider of the most value to a team and then give in an essay of 300 words why you think so.

A season pass awarded by President J. W. Heisman, of the local baseball association, will be given to the person who, in his opinion and that of Manager Jordan, gives the best reasons for picking a certain position as the most valuable. The second best essay will receive two tickets to the opening game of the season and the third best, one ticket. The last two named prizes will be given by Dick Jemison, sporting editor of The Constitution.

The rules governing the contest are: Any essay over 300 words will be thrown out. Write on one side of the paper only. Every one is eligible. Address all essays to the ESSAY EDITOR, The Constitution, Atlanta, Ga. Remember the prize is awarded for the best reasons given and not for the person picking the correct position.

The first essay received took the position of first base. The writer's name will not be mentioned, but his essay is as follows:

"Essay Editor, Atlanta Constitution, Atlanta, Ga. Dear Sir: In my opinion, the most important position on a baseball team is FIRST BASE. There, a majority of the 'OUTS' are made and a first-class man can hold a single in close by being alert and continually on the jump, to prevent the runner from getting a good start to second. A fumble, dropped or passed ball by this position can cause more damage than in any other position. A runner being on second or third base, and such a bad play as mentioned, it is a cinch that both score, therefore a sure live man on the job would not only make an out, but probably retire the side; should a man be on first, he would at least advance to third.

"A batted ball to the infield necessarily must come to the first base for an out and a poor throw by the infielder and a beautiful pick-up or reach by first base will make a cheering out and probably catch a runner at home, while if the ball had passed a poor player at first, it is easy to figure out the damage done."

There are some other essays at hand and one will be printed every day to show the fans just how the other fans are guessing on the contest.

THEATERS

At the Grand.

What must be regarded as the very greatest amusement and real musical novelty of the season will occur at the Grand Friday and Saturday, when the famous prima donna, Grace Van Studdiford, and her big organization of comedians, singers and dancers present the latest comic opera success, "The Golden Butterfly." It is described as one of those vast productions which is not only characterized by an immense presenting company, but which is given with remarkable display of scenery and costumes, and electrical effects which have always distinguished the elaborate productions that the famous prima donna has been associated with.

Mme. Sembrich.

The farewell dinner given Mme. Sembrich by the New York critics was but one of a series of interesting events that marked the famous prima donna's retirement from the operatic stage—a step now followed by a farewell tour under the management of Loudon Charlton. The dinner was given at the Hotel Astor, and was attended by 200 persons known the world over for conspicuous achievement in artistic and musical lines. Addresses were made by H. E. Krehbiel, critic of The Tribune; W. J. Henderson, of The Sun; Ignace Paderewski and Frank Damrosch, and they were masterpieces of their kind; while Mme. Sembrich's response was affecting and memorable.

At the Lyric.

For the past ten years, Hanlon's productions have always been considered the best pontomimic and scenic attractions that tour the country and this year, the new Superba, which is being presented to delighted audiences at the Lyric, is by far the most elaborate and entertaining spectacle that has been offered local theatergoers in a long time. Money has been lavishly spent and the scenic effects are simply wonderful. Entire new ballets have been arranged with the most carefully-selected dancers.

At the Orpheum.

The funniest legs in vaudeville are what make the younger Hennings, of Hennings, Lewis and Hennings, famous, and one of the funniest acts in vaudeville is what makes the team among the most popular that ever came to the Orpheum. Their "Mixed Drinks" stunts will go down in Orpheum history. The Meredith Sisters in their scenic, quick-change and elaborately-costumed singing act, are making good as the headliners of the extraordinary bill, and Charles Leonard Fletcher, the cleverest of impersonators, is doing likewise as the special added feature. The Alpha troupe of hoop-rollers is without question the classiest, fastest act of its kind on the stage.

BOTH BOXERS READY FOR FRAY

Robinson and Christensen Meet Thursday Night.

Al Christensen, the Atlanta heavyweight, and Jack Robinson, the New York welterweight, are ready for their ten-round bout at the Monroe Athletic Club, in the Steiner-Emery building on Viaduct Place, tomorrow night.

The two boys will conclude their training today for the mill and both stamp themselves as trained to the minute and ready for most anything that can happen.

These two boys met before, this being a return match. Last time Robinson was awarded the decision on scientific boxing. This decision met with the approval of some of the fans and not with some of the others, so the return match is to try to prove just which is the best man of the two without any discussion coming up.

This bout will be for three championships of the state of Georgia, the welter, middle and heavyweights. Robinson is at present the holder of all three of these titles and he hopes to successfully defend them this time, while Christensen is confident of his ability to wrest the laurels from the New Yorker.

It is going to be a great mill any way you take it and there is sure to be a record-breaking crowd on hand. Two preliminaries of the high-class order being put on by Monroe should round out a bill that will be par excellence. Tickets are now on sale at Tom Pitts' cigar store.

SOPHOMORES WIN; SO DO FRESHMEN.

Basketball Games at Emory College Create Much Interest.

Emory College, Oxford, Ga., February 1.—(Special.)—Basketball reigned at Emory again yesterday afternoon, and two pretty games were pulled off in the J. P. Williams Athletic hall, the juniors going down before the sophomores to the tune of 29 to 11, while the freshmen defeated the subfreshmen in the second game. Score, 26 to 11.

In the first clash Sophomore Parham was decidedly the star, especially in the second half, when he piled up five field goals. Stone scored more than anyone on the junior side, making three field goals.

FIVE MEN ANSWER BLACK HAWK'S DEFI

Looks Like Indian Runner Will Be Swamped With Contestants.

It looks as if Black Hawk, the Indian long-distance runner, will not have to go begging for a race in Atlanta during the stay of the Philadelphia Athletics in this city in March.

The Indian runner's manager issued a defi to meet any three men in a 15-mile race in Atlanta during March, and five aceptances of this challenge have been received by President J. W. Heisman, of the local baseball association, who has the race in charge.

It now seems that Atlanta will have for the first time a long-distance race of class, with one of the best runners in America pitted against three fast men from Georgia. Black Hawk is some runner, and it will take three fast men to beat him. Some trials will probably be held in the near future to try-out the men and select the three fastest to run against the Indian.

This race will be run inside the Ponce de Leon park as an added attraction to one of the games between the Athletics and the Crackers in March.

MARIST FIVE WILL PLAY BOYS' HIGH.

The Marist college basketball five will meet the Boys' High school team on the floor of the Atlanta Athletic Club as a preliminary to the game between the club men and the Auburn five.

These two teams are the best teams in the Prep School League, and the fight between these two should be as interesting as the big battle of the evening. Both teams are keyed up to a top notch and should play grand ball.

Cline Leads Demorest.

Chicago, February 1.—H. P. Cline, of Philadelphia, took the lead over Calvin Demarest, of Chicago, the international billiard champion, in the opening block of their 1,500-point match for the world's championship here tonight. The score was: Cline, 500; Demarest, 349

"FAIR AND WARMER" TODAY'S FORECAST

Bright, Comfortable Day Is Promised by the Weather Man.

Weather forecast: "Fair and warmer, Wednesday."

That is the forecast for today for Atlanta, vicinity and throughout the state of Georgia. The weather man rang true, again, Tuesday, for the thermometer took a tumble during the early morning hours and came near hitting the bottom. A temperature of 25 was expecteted and 22 was the minimum recorded. Just to show that it would not long remain at such a frigid temperature the mercury began to rise, running up 25 during the day, registering 47 shortly after 2 o'clock.

The day was an ideal one. The sun shone brightly and during the afternoon nearly everyone had forgotten the morning's frost.

Those who came to work all bundled up for a blizzard were more than uncomfortable returning home at lunch time.

Altogether, the day was as clear and delightful as the most critical could wish.

"This weather is conducive to hair cuts," said the Gopher, toying with the back of his neck. "But believe me, I had a friend who had both a rare and novel experience as a result of a springtime hair cut. Now, this friend has beautiful blonde hair, and a baby. He wears it quite long—the hair. The other day he had a hair cut that was very close. He went home and poor baby didn't know papa, and began to yell. Now, what do you think of that?"

THE GOPHER GETS A HAIR CUT.

REWARD IS OFFERED FOR UNKNOWN PARTY

Believed to Have Kidnaped or Made Away With Tom Cunningham.

Governor Brown yesterday offered a reward of $100 for the apprehension with proof to convict of the party or parties supposed to have kidnaped or made away with Tom Cunningham, of Columbus.

Cunningham, a young white man 23 years old, mysteriously disappeared on January 22 and no trace of him has since been found. It is the general belief that he has either been kidnaped or murdered. At the request of the sheriff of Muscogee county and others the governor offered the reward as stated.

TREASURER CANNOT HOLD EXTRA FUND

Attorney General Rules There Is No Law to Authorize It.

Attorney General John C. Hart, in a verbal opinion rendered yesterday, held that there was no law to authorize the state treasurer to hold a deposit of $100,000 from the Georgia Life Insurance Company, of Macon, in addition to the $100,000 which the company is required to deposit with him under the laws of Georgia.

The company first deposited $100,000 in municipal bonds to comply with the Georgia law. It was then discovered that Alabama would not accept a tatement as to a deposit of municipal onds, and the company had to put up 100,000 of Georgia bonds. It was also scertained that Alabama required ertificate of deposit of $200,000 as a recedent to doing business in that tate.

Thereupon the company requested he state treasurer to hold its deposit of $200,000 and give it a certificate to that effect. The treasurer submitted the question to the attorney general, who holds there is no law to authorize him to retain the additional leposit. It will, therefore, have to e returned to the company.

As a result, it is expected the company will seek to have the legislature at its coming session pass a law which will authorize the treasurer to old additional guarantee deposits in uch cases.

Jack Johnson Indicted.

New York, February 1.—Jack Johnson, the heavyweight champion, was today indicted by the grand jury here for assault in the second degree. The charge grew out of a fight mix-up, in which he figured with another negro in an uptown hotel recently.

LATEST REPORTS FROM ALL THE MARKETS

COTTON IS STEADY; NET 5 TO 12 POINTS UP

Business Not Active on the Advance---But Little Cotton For Sale.

New York, February 1.—The cotton market continued quiet today, but showed a generally steady tone and closed steady at a net advance of 5@12 points.

The opening was steady, but irregular, first prices being 6 points lower to 6 points higher, which was about in line with the showing of Liverpool. Active months sold about 4 to 5 points net higher during the first few minutes on foreign buying and scattered covering, but the absence of aggressive support and an unsettled stock market induced local professionals to take the short side for a turn and old crop positions soon sold off to a net loss of about 4@7 points. There was, however, a considerable demand for October contracts, supposedly for the account of shorts rendered uneasy by the character of the news from the southwest regarding the dry state of the subsoil, while trade interests were buyers of March, presumably to secure control of the local stock. This combined demand started a covering movement during the middle of the day and prices in the afternoon worked up to a net gain of 9@15 points. Business was not active on the advance, but early sellers found very little cotton for sale. Realizing caused a slight reaction at the close, but there was no aggressive pressure against the markets, as buyers had the encouragement of bullish southern spot news, increased exports and light port receipts, the figures indicating a loss of about 20,000 bales in stocks at the ports for the day. Southern spot markets officially reported early were generally unchanged. A private wire received during the day claimed an easier spot situation in New Orleans, but this report was not confirmed and, generally speaking, southern wires indicate a steady situation in the interior.

Receipts at the ports today 11,697 bales, against 20,229 last week and 44,869 last year. For the week 100,000 bales, against 113,002 last week and 253,527 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans 2,033 bales, against 13,079 last year, and at Houston 4,347 bales, against 22,819 last year.

Cotton spot closed quiet 10 points higher. Middling uplands 14.70; middling gulf 14.95; sales 800 bales.

New Orleans Cotton.

New Orleans, February 1.—Cotton spots were quiet and steady; low ordinary 11 3-16, nominal; ordinary 12, nominal; good ordinary 13 7-16; strict good ordinary 13⅞; low middling 14 5-16; strict low middling 14⅜; middling 14⅞; strict middling 15; good middling 15⅛; strict good middling 15 5-16; middling fair to fair 15 13-16; fair 16 3-16, nominal; receipts 2,033; stocks 211,202; sales on the spot 365 bales; to arrive, none; hedged cotton 200.

Futures opened steady at an advance of 1 to 5 points, on favorable cables and reports of drought in many sections of Texas. It was largely a weather market all day. Soon after the first call, prices eased off on the forecast of unsettled weather for the western belt. This decline put prices to the lowest levels of the day, 1 to 3 points below yesterday's closing on the more active positions. During the remainder of the session, with no reports of rain coming in, the market had a very good tone, and prices advanced until they were 12 to 14 points over yesterday's final quotations. In the last half hour of trading prices held up well in the face of profit-taking by scalping longs, the closing was steady at a net advance of 9 to 13 points.

Liverpool Cotton.

Liverpool, February 1.—Closing: Cotton, spot moderate business done; 5 points higher; American middling fair, 8.15; good middling 7.89; middling 7.73; low middling 7.63; good ordinary 7.37; ordinary 7.12. The sales of the day were 8,000 bales, of which 500 were for speculation and export and included 7,600 American. Receipts 34,000 bales, including 33,700 American. Futures opened firm and closed quiet.

Argo, Jester & Co.

New York, February 1.—Opening prices were a trifle up in response to cables, and although room traders showed at the start a disposition to hammer, the market took the offerings so readily that sellers turned to cover. Some moderate buying orders reached the market at the same time and prices moved up, easily holding the advance very well in spite of occasional tests, which were made to ascertain whether they would give way under pressure. New crop options were in good demand, whether for covering shorts or accumulating contracts, and the March contracts were readily taken whenever offered. It is thought that March is being bought by prominent spot interests with a view to controlling all stock that may be gathered here for delivery on that month. Closing prices were at the best for the day, and though no spectacular changes in prices seem likely, the general tone of the market is healthy and promises a good trading market. For the present only limited operations are advisable and those for quick turns on either side.

Liverpool is due to open 6 points higher.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.

New York, February 1.—Quiet but continued buying of the near-by deliveries has again been the feature of an otherwise dull market, where the natural instinct is to look for lower prices. This demand, which at no time was aggressive, appeared to come from the largest spot houses in the trade, who consider this the cheapest, desirable cotton that can be secured. With the movement at the interior towns and ports on the smallest scale in many years, the bearish feeling of the local trade is a reflection of depression, caused by the extraordinary liquidation of the bulls last month. We expect the European demand to increase, as we think the comparatively cheap cotton recently bought by them means that the spindles will not stop at present prices.

Liverpool should advance 8 points tomorrow.

TRACTION STOCKS MEET HEAVY DECLINE

Third Avenue Prices Lowest in Its History---Undue Expansion Caused Decline.

New York, February 1.—The generally heavy tone of today's stock market was due to neglect as much as to any active selling pressure. In a few spots, however, there was evidence of a further process correction of the inflation brought about by pool manipulation. Today's demonstration invaded a new field, and brought with it some suggestion of measures of resentment against the pushing enterprise of a newer figure in the railroad world, if such resentment can be supposed to reside in the minds of the higher finance. The effect on the general level of prices was not very marked, but the influence on the speculative tone was against hopefulness. The day's happenings were interpreted in a contrary sense. The most notable example of deflation was in the Interborough Metropolitan stocks. There were no immediate news developments to explain their collapse, and it was attributed simply to previous undue expansion. The whole of the local traction group suffered in sympathy. Third avenue sold at 10¼, the lowest price in its history, feeling some direct effect from the preparations for the foreclosure sale.

The additional speculative purging, the necessity for which was thus disclosed, helps to account for the repression of the speculation. Conjecture continued busy, nevertheless, with attempts to fathom the more general causes lying back of the heavy decline in prices. The idea that a business recession has set in enters into the discussion, although concrete examples of evidence are few. The fall in prices of iron is cited, and the fact of some countermanding of equipment orders by the railroads. The agitation of anti-corporation policies is said to have spread its effect of depression from the stock market into general business to some extent. The complaint is heard that the large stocks of merchandise which were laid in from first hands when the revival set in after the depression are moving with some difficulty at the high prices which have been attained in many lines.

The wages question is a factor which is kept in consideration by the granting of advances here and there by the railroads and the conferences in progress over demands for more general advances. Such showings as the December net earnings reports of Union Pacific and Southern Pacific, made public today, give point to the discussion, even though the heavy increase in operating cost there shown is due principally to wintry weather conditions. Today's report of the growth of the European visible supply of copper and the falling off in our December exports of the metal had their bearing on opinion concerning the trade outlook.

More gold was shipped from London to Paris today, but the Paris situation was less an influence, with the improvement of flood conditions there. London looks for a reduction in the Bank of England official discount rates, in spite of this demand upon that money market. Money worked easier again in New York. The failure of the bond market to improve with this development makes one of the flaws in the present situation. The difficulty of moving bonds in the hands of syndicate subscribers offered one topic of discussion in connection with the day's depression.

The Pennsylvania dividend was disappointing to a speculative party that had looked for an increase. Colorado Fuel suffered from the disaster to its mines. Strength of Japanese bonds was the result of the new domestic loan to be floated for refunding purposes.

The final rally in prices was the sign of the relief afforded by the day's liquidation and left a straggling show of small net gains.

Bonds were easy. Total sales, par value, $2,293,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

Coffee.

New Yorp, February 1.—Coffee futures opened steady at unchanged prices to a decline of 5 points in response to the decline of ¼ franc at Havre. There was some European selling in the late months and scattering liquidation of the near positions upon which the initial losses was increased in the absence of prompt support and the closing tone was barely steady at a net decline of 5@10 points. Sales were reported of 8,000 bags.

WHEAT MADE RALLY TOWARD THE CLOSE

Buying Forced Shorts to Cover. Corn and Oats Higher. Provisions Strong.

Chicago, February 1.—Wheat, after an easy start today, rallied materially toward the close on buying, which forced shorts to cover. Corn and oats within narrower limits followed wheat, while provisions were strong throughout the session.

Despite the general bearish tone of the market based on weaker foreign cables and lack of enthusiasm in the cash wheat demand, the bulls in the final half of the session started a run of shorts to cover, by buying to some extent. As a result of these tactics, an unstable market which tended to drag was changed to one in which material advances were registered. The fluctuations were from ⅝ to 1¼c, May leading in the advance, traveling from $1.10¼ to $1.11¼. The close was strong in all the futures, with the May delivery at $1.11⅜@1.11½—⅞c higher than yesterday's final figures.

Within narrower limits oats followed the general course of wheat and corn, opening easy and rallying later in the day of moderate trading to a firm close. May traveled from 46⅜@46½ to 46¾, and other futures made similar advances. The close was strong at the high points of the day, May being ⅛ higher that yesterday's final figures.

Investment buying by outside interests was the underlying cause for a material advance in provision prices, the ultimate reason being the continued light receipts of live hogs at the packing centers. The start was comparatively strong, and later bids carried the pork prices to a close 40 to 45c higher than final figures yesterday. Lard and ribs advanced to a less degree, closing from 10 to 15c higher than final figures yesterday. Closing figures for the May delivery were: Pork, $21.75, 40c higher; lard, $12.02 to $12.05, 10 to 12½c higher, and ribs, $11.75, 12½c higher than yesterday's final figures.

TWO DIVORCE SUITS FILED IN COURT

Two suits for total divorce were filed in the superior court yesterday afternoon, in both of which the plaintiff charges desertion on the part of the defendant.

In the case of Jesse Shields v. Addie Shields, the petitioner charges that his wife left his roof in December of 1903, and though he made many attempts to persuade her to come back to him, she would not. He, therefore, claims that such a person is not qualified to look after his children and that on this ground a total divorce should be granted. He also asks for custody of the children. The petitioner is represented by Moore & Branch.

In the second case, Mrs. Pauline Cooper sues J. E. Cooper, claiming that he has not lived with her since August, 9, 1906. She asks for a total divorce and that her maiden name, Pauline Rheinhardt, be restored to her. The petitioner is represented by John T. Daniel.

PEOPLE OF TENNILLE ENTER AN OBJECTION

They Don't Want the Telegraph Office Removed to the Depot.

The people of Tennille have entered a protest with the railroad commission against granting permission to the Western Union Telegraph Company to remove its office from its present location in the center of the city to the railroad depot.

The telegraph company requested permission to move the office on account of a contract it has with the railroads at that point. The Central of Georgia and the Wrightsville and Tennille cross there.

The commission will hold a hearing and get at both sides of the matter before taking any action.
